Says He Paid $1000 to Corcoran to Secure His Release From Prison

Claims He Was Told of "Friend" Close To Tufts Who Could Get Favors if He Was Paid Cash—Urged To Do Business With "Office Across Street"

BOSTON, July 20.—Captain Herbert Gordon of the Cambridge police, on duty in the office of District Attorney Nathan A. Tufts of Middlesex county told Louis "Poco" Bennett that if he gave Charles and Frank Corcoran a certain sum of money he would be out of the East Cambridge jail in a short time. Bennett testified before the full bench of the supreme court today.

Bennett's testimony was introduced by Attorney-General Allen to support one of the multiple charges on which he bases proceedings to have District Attorney Tufts removed from office. The Corcorans have been accused of conspiracy and larceny of $1000 from Bennett in November, 1920, and their case is cited by the attorney general as bearing out his charge that Mr. Tufts neglected to introduce proper evidence in the prosecution of certain cases, although he had or could have easily obtained such evidence.

Serving Sentence
Bennett was serving two and one-half years sentence as a result of the holdup and shooting of a paymaster at Everett, when he was approached by Frank Corcoran and Charles Corcoran and Captain Gordon, he testified. The attorney general informed the court that one of the Corcorans was an employee of Sheriff John R. Fairbairn of Middlesex county and the other of the county commissioners.

Bennett said that he told the Corcorans that if they would bring about

BILL BURNS AS STATE WITNESS

Tells Story of Conspiracy to "Throw" 1919 World's Series Games

Has Been Indicted But Promised Immunity for Giving His Testimony

Claims Cicotte Said He Would Throw Ball Over Fence to "Throw" Games

CHICAGO, July 20.—Bill Burns, admitted accomplice of former White Sox players and alleged gamblers on trial here, charged with entering into a conspiracy to throw the 1919 world's series to Cincinnati, resumed the witness stand today to continue his story of the reported sell-out, which was interrupted yesterday when court adjourned.

Burns, who was indicted but was promised immunity by the state, if he turned state's evidence, was expected to be on the stand all day and it may be Thursday noon before the defense has finished its

GREEK IMMIGRATION QUOTA FILLED

NEW YORK, July 20.—The restrictive immigration law which went into effect June 3 thus far has barred no new comers who have been able to reach these shores.

At present there is a surplus of only 20 nationalities. The July quota for Greece of 657 already has been filled, with an excess of 19, while Palestine has sent two more than its quota of 1.

Ellis Island faces the prospect of being caught long on Poles and Turks, or the July quotas are filled and large numbers from these two countries are in the high seas and due before the end of the month.

Therefore rulings from Washington are awaited whether these Poles and Turks are to be held over for charging against the August quota, or shipped back home. Officials pointed out that premature arrivals were admitted quotas for the last few months of the year that the restrictive law is in effect.

BREAKING HIGH PRICES ON ICE CREAM

(Special to The Sun.)
BOSTON, July 20.—The efforts of the ice cream proprietors to maintain excessive prices for ice cream commodities and soft drinks is being broken, according to a statement published by the commission on the necessities of life, after a conference on the ice cream situation. Many large dealers still maintain high prices, the commission reports. But returns from small dealers everywhere show a tendency to decline to a normal basis. Some dealers have come down to these

Textile Union Conference to Decide On Strike Extension

CHARLOTTE, N. C., July 20.—Representatives of 45 local textile unions in the Carolinas will hold a conference in Charlotte tomorrow night at which a decision as to possible extension of the present strike into other mills and other sections of the south probably will be reached, according to an announcement today by Thomas F. McMahon, president of the United Textile Workers of America. Three representatives of the international organization will attend the conference, Mr. McMahon said, in addition to himself. He explained that the meeting is to be in the nature of a conference on the general situation.

$30,000 Fire In Reading Plant; Police Making An Investigation

READING, July 20.—The plant of the Bay State Heel Co., was damaged by fire today. State police officers, having found that a pane of glass had been cut in a ground floor window, investigated incendiaryism. Loss was estimated at $30,000. One fireman sustained a broken arm in falling from a third floor.

To Celebrate Annual Feast Day of Patron Saint of Automobilists

BOSTON, July 20.—The feast day of St. Christopher, patron saint of automobilists, will be observed next Sunday at the Church of St. Leonard of Port Maurice in the North End, with a service of an unusual nature. Automobilists have been invited to drive to the church, park their cars outside and take part in the feast observance, which was ordained by Pope Pius X. After the services Rev. Christopher Burzi will present to each a medal to be placed permanently on the car. These medals were reproductions of Tilius's conception of St. Christopher bearing the Christ-child on his shoulders over a river.

OWNERS WILL GET BACK WAS SERIOUSLY INJURED

Reading Man Badly Hurt in Auto and Cycle Crash Here Today

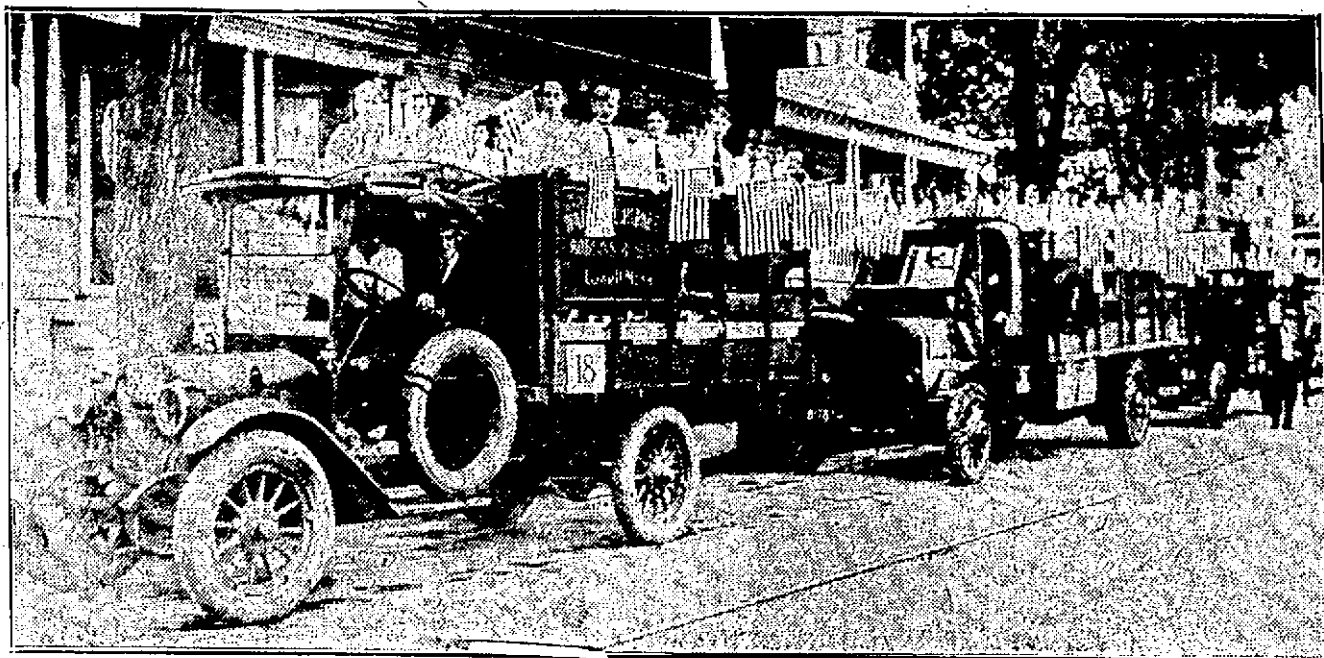

Two men were injured, one seriously and an automobile and motorcycle were slightly damaged when the two machines came together in East Merrimack street this morning. The injured are Emmett Yungman of 113 Howard street, Reading, who is suffering from fractured ribs and other internal injuries, and Louis N. Smith of Haverhill street, North Reading, whose foot was badly crushed. Yungman's condition is considered serious. The accident occurred shortly after 8 o'clock at the entrance to the auditorium. It seems that Homer Green, whose home is in Greensboro, Mr., but who lives temporarily at 27 Summer street, Maynard, was driving his Ford automobile down East Merrimack st. When a point was reached in front of the auditorium he swung to the left to park his car on the auditorium land. Just then an Indian motorcycle operated by Smith with Yungman in the sidecar, came along headed towards Merrimack square and before both drivers realized it, the two machines came together, the motorcycle striking the right front mudguard of the auto. Smith and Yungman were rushed to the hospital, where X-ray pictures of their injuries were taken. Green escaped without injuries.

TEST WATER HYDRANT
The water department hydrants of the town town section will be given a test by the engineers of the New England Insurance underwriters tomorrow. This test will be in connection with the survey that is being conducted in this city by the underwriters relative to a reduction in insurance rates.

Lowell Rotary Club Plays Host to 500 Children in Big Outing at Martin Luther Club Grounds

SCENE IN PAWTUCKET STREET SHORTLY BEFORE PARADE STARTED

Automobile Parade Headed By Band Initial Feature of the Day's Program—Sixty Machines Filled With Happy Children—Refreshments of All Kinds at Grounds

"Join the Kiddies" was the slogan of the first annual outing given today by the Lowell Rotary club to the children of the local homes and orphanages and from the time the happy youngsters stepped into waiting automobiles and trucks at their door this morning until they began the homeward trip from the Martin Luther grounds late this afternoon that slogan predominated the spirit of the occasion. The Rotarians and their wives, and indeed all who had anything to do with the outing joined the kiddies in spirit and fact and once more became youngsters for the day. It was the children's day and their happiness and wishes were all that mattered.

Every detail of the affair, carefully plotted out by an energetic committee several weeks ago, was carried out minus a hitch. Even the weather man entered into the spirit of the occasion. Last last night he cleared the muggy atmosphere with a cooling shower and when the youngsters woke up this morning they found the air clear and cool, the sun shining brightly and just enough breeze to stir trees and bushes into lazy action. It was an ideal day in every respect.

When the children reached the Martin Luther grounds in Tyngsboro shortly before noon they found a natural beauty spot enhanced by the recent rain and cool and comfortable despite the warm sun that tried to break through the ceiling of trees overhead. At 10 o'clock this morning outing activities began to manifest themselves when scores of machines decorated with American flags, scouted from one part of the city to the other gathering the children of the various homes, and orphanages and then assembling at the Ayer home in Paw-

EXCITEMENT IN COURT

Man Charged by His Wife With Non-Support Confesses Bigamy

The court room during the morning's police court session, was thrown into excitement when W. Curtis Chamberlain, charged with non-support of his wife Elizabeth, took the stand and suddenly declared that the woman, with whom he has been living for years, is not his wife at all. "When she married me," he said, "I had a wife still living, although she died eleven months afterwards. I did not know of this, but thought my wife was dead as the result of seeing a report to this effect in the newspapers. But when this woman married me,

DE VALERA MAY GO TO BELFAST

Possibility of Meeting With Craig in Ulster Foreshadowed in London Papers

Smuts Said to be Responsible for Optimistic Views That Have Survived

LONDON, July 20.—The probability of a meeting in Belfast between Eamon de Valera and Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, is foreshadowed in some political quarters and in several newspapers this morning.

General J. C. Smuts, premier of South Africa, who re-entered the negotiations yesterday, doubtless is largely responsible for this and similar optimistic speculation which has survived under great difficulties since Monday when the Ulster premier departed suddenly for Belfast after making a forceful statement on the subject of self-determination as it applied to Ulster. Mr. de Valera now is reported willing to go to Belfast and meet Sir James after he has discussed with his Dublin followers certain proposals which it is understood, Premier Lloyd George will submit to him Thursday.

Cabinet Consideration
The British cabinet today will give special consideration to the Irish question, and it is believed that the aforementioned proposals are likely to receive the approval of the entire ministry.

CITY COUNCIL HEARS PETITION

Centralville Residents Appear at City Hall on Lakeview Avenue Paving Matter

Say Street is in Deplorable Condition and Dangerous to Public Safety

More than 150 residents of Centralville assembled in the aldermanic chamber in city hall, last evening, to urge the municipal council to head the petition of John H. Deaulieu and 600 other residents of that section that Lakeview avenue be repaved from Bridge street to the Dracut line. Nearly a dozen speakers pointed out the deplorable condition that thoroughfare is now in and said that because of its neglect, automobiles and other vehicular traffic were ruining adjacent and parallel streets never meant to stand heavy traffic. They pointed out also that the present condition of the street, which is a thoroughfare from Lowell to the

TO STOP SALE OF "JAKE"

Judge Enright Says Dealer Sells Jamaica Ginger at His Peril

Sales of Jamaica ginger by Lowell storekeepers are going to stop, whatever the circumstances under which the transactions occur. This was clearly indicated when George La-brance, who conducts a grocery on Church street, was ordered by Judge Enright in the police court this morning to pay a fine of $100 for selling a bottle of Jamaica ginger to a police representative last evening. There was no testimony presented to the effect that the merchant understood that the preparation was being purchased for purposes other than medicinal. But His Honor, acting under the recently promulgated decision of the Massachusetts supreme court, based his finding upon the ruling of that body, to the effect that "general use" has constituted Jamaica ginger a beverage, and that the storekeeper who

Impeachment Defied By Judge Landis

CHICAGO, July 20.—Stating that what he said might be reason for impeachment Federal Judge K. M. Landis, in an address before wounded soldiers at Fort Sheridan, yesterday, denounced the foes of the soldiers' bonus bill an asserted that if he were president he would "fire the whole outfit" at Washington who were "getting in one another's way trying to pass on the veterans' compensation proposition." "As one man who stayed at home in peace and security while you fellows were fighting for our lives," said the judge, "I am against stalling off this bonus proposition."

Object To Change In Railroad Rates

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Three days of oral argument before the interstate commerce commission on a case involving readjustment of freight rates south of the Ohio river, including the Mississippi valley, was scheduled to begin today, with representatives of all the railroads of that section and of more than 1000 protestants in all parts of the country to be heard. New England manufacturers say that a change in present rates would disturb adjustment of their rates to the middle west, which in many instances are based upon rates to the Mississippi valley.

Excitement in Court

she did know that I had a wife living, and married me just the same." Under questioning, Chamberlain said his alleged wife "knew about the facts as much as he did." Judge Enright, telling the defendant he "ought to be in state's prison," sentenced him to four months in the house of correction. Chamberlain's strange announcement came as a complete surprise even to his own counsel, who declared that he did not care to go on with the hearing. Mrs. Chamberlain had taken the stand and testified that since June 12, her husband gave her no support whatever and had made a declaration to the effect that he had no intention of caring for her financially any longer. Recently he departed from their mutual abode, she said, and she understood that he is now residing in a barn. He called at their formerly shared domicile one Sunday morning since his departure, she said, and they had some conversation in the course of which she said he couldn't come back "if he didn't behave himself." He has been earning $15 a week, she declared. They were married some six years ago, said the woman, who has a grown son by a former marriage. She was asked if this son has worked since returning from war, and she replied that more than half the time he has. She denied that during the remainder of the time the son has been supported by his stepfather. He has contributed $5 a week from his savings, she said. The defendant then ascended the witness stand and made his surprising announcement. He drew his jail sentence and then Judge Enright asked the wife if she was in fear of her husband. When she replied in the affirmative, Chamberlain was placed under $300 bonds also, to keep the peace. The wife denied having any knowledge as to Chamberlain being married already when she went through a marriage ceremony with him.

vends it is guilty of illegal sale of liquor.

It was predicted in The Sun, when Judge Enright first called the attention of the public here to the supreme court's decision, that the circumstances marked an era in local prohibition enforcement, and meant nothing less than an absolute shut-down of all Jamaica ginger sales made without a physician's prescription. Judge Enright stated from the bench this morning that "since the supreme court's findings that the stuff is a beverage, a dealer sells it at his peril."

Thirty bottles of Jamaica ginger, found by local liquor squad officers in Labranche's establishment after the sale had been made, were confiscated, and are now held at police headquarters. Prior to the calling of Labranche's case, Abraham Saharda, a merchant of Fayette street, was charged also with illegal sale, and the evidence produced by Officer Conroy, for the liquor and vice squad, was a bottle of ginger and a bottle of tonic. Judge Enright at this point indicated the attitude of the court, and foreshadowed Labranche's fate, when he stated that it was necessary for the officers to get a sale of ginger and tonic combined under the notion taken by the highest judicial body in the commonwealth. It is explicitly mentioned by the supreme court that the status of Jamaica ginger as a beverage in fact, has been definitely established by its general use for that purpose. Testimony before that bench was to the effect that thirty-five per centum of all drunkenness observed by a medical expert was due to the use of this fluid. It was also testified that a bottle which contained only two ounces of Jamaica ginger possessed an alcoholic content equal to that of a quart of whiskey. It makes no difference, the court found whether or not a vendor of Jamaica ginger has in mind a sale made for the relief of illness. The therapeutic value of the preparation does not constitute it a specific. On the contrary, its employment as an intoxicant on a large scale, makes that its legal nomenclature. A dealer who sells Jamaica ginger, under the Massachusetts law, is under the supreme court finds, is selling liquor just as much as though he were selling "gin" brandy, whiskey, or aprita. The ruling apparently leaves no loophole and all sales of Jamaica ginger to merchants here will be visited by legal punishment, according to Judge Enright's announced intention. Those interested in legal matters are awaiting with interest an arrest of some dealer here who has not sold Jamaica ginger, but has it on his shelves. Under the law, possession of intoxicating liquor, with the intent to sell, is liable as well as the actual sale. Labranche, who sold a bottle of ginger, was accompanied by any tonic, was fined $100 equally with Saharda, who sold a bottle of ginger also.

COUNTING VARIOUS CHARGES ON A TON OF COAL

Passing the Buck a Favorite Game—Transportation Costs by Rail and Boat—Operators Say High Wages Keep Up Price

In the subjoined article Mr. E. Robert Stevenson, the authorized investigator of the coal question for the N. E. Newspaper, Alliance including The Sun, computes the price of a ton of coal from the mines in Pennsylvania to Worcester, the centre of New England.

Special to The Sun.
BY E. ROBERT STEVENSON

It ought to be a simple problem in arithmetic for any buyer of coal to figure out for himself the why and wherefore of the price of the ton of coal that he has emptied into his cellar. It ought to be possible for him easily to ascertain the price charged by the mine operator for that ton of coal on board the railroad car at the mine, with the cost to the operator for putting it aboard that car. He could then ascertain without difficulty what it cost to move that coal from the mine to the city in which he lived. The question of transportation costs offers little worry. The government controls this charge absolutely and the citizen may trust the government to watch out for his interests. If wholesalers are to stand between local coal dealers and the operators in getting the coal to the consumer, it ought to be clear to the buyer how much the wholesaler is to make for any part he may have in handling the coal and why it may be necessary for him to function as a wholesaler. The law of competition setting in its work between local dealers serving a domestic trade, it might then be assumed that the intimate knowledge that consumers had of these dealers with their comparatively simple costs for labor, vehicles of transportation on city streets, office expenses, etc., would keep their profits fair, as customers checked up charges and closely estimated costs of local handling.

All this ought to be a simple problem but it isn't.

The first difficulty is that the operators object to any probing of cost figures by the government or other curious folks. They are willing to give out cost figures that they themselves have made if folks will be willing to accept them. The next difficulty is that the so-called "independent" operators sell at prices they can get above the regular prices listed by the "railroad" coal companies. This makes it possible for a dealer to explain high prices at any time by the expedient of saying he was obliged to buy high priced "independent" coal. He may also point to wholesalers or jobbers as "robbers" from whom he was forced to buy at outrageous prices.

In such prices the game of "passing the buck" is played with significance such as are found in no other game in which the question of whose to blame for the prices is concerned. Everybody who has any part in the handling of the coal points to somebody else as responsible for the price. The grand conclusion of the coal interests reached a wonderful buck-passing climax at the top of altitude record in prices last winter when it was pointed out that the consumer was to blame for the high prices because he insisted on buying coal to warm his home.

The Steady Prices

Consideration of prices charged for anthracite coal at the mines should be marked first with fairness of mind toward the operators. Bituminous coal has flopped around a wild range of prices for years because of an uneven demand dependent upon industrial conditions affecting the orders of manufacturing plants that have constituted its chief buyers. Anthracite, on the other hand, up to and through the war, had a steady demand until the controlling fuel administration loosened its hand upon it. It had shown a marked steadiness of prices in contrast with the fluctuations of bituminous. The steady demand of a domestic trade was chiefly responsible for this.

of Indianapolis, the president, showed an increase in the organization's membership for the first time in 11 years. Bishop Michael J. Gallagher, after the mass yesterday, warned the delegates against over-optimism as to the outcome of the London conference.

In 1750 there was only one general species of chrysanthemum known.

The women delegates from New England, 40 strong, headed by Mrs. Mary Martin Silk of Spencer, is working hard for the election of Mrs. Susan McNamee of Charleston as national vice-president of the Women's auxiliary. A hot contest is promised, with present indications favoring the Massachusetts candidate.

The Massachusetts and other New England delegates are unanimous for the re-election of Richard Dwyer of Boston, as national vice president. Little opposition has as yet developed and his re-election is practically assured.

The first business session came today and the convention is to continue through the week.

Police Asked To Help Find Twins

NEW YORK, July 20.—Search was begun today by the police for Charles and Lalrope Leaycraft, 26-year-old twins, and cousins of the late Theodore Roosevelt, at the request of their brother, Reginald Roosevelt Leaycraft. The twins have been missing from her home since Monday morning. Reginald said that after an unsatisfactory discussion of a business venture at their Wall Street office, his brothers said they thought of shipping as seamen on a transatlantic vessel or might go to California. The twins are described as 5 feet 7 inches in height, 150 pounds in weight, with fair complexion, blue eyes and light hair.

Victim of Beating Taken From Sheriff

TENAHIA, Tex., July 20.—J. W. McKnight of Nacogdoches, who was attacked early Sunday morning by a party of masked men at Timpsa and severely beaten, was taken from custody of a deputy sheriff last night by another party in motor cars. The band sped through Timpsa early today firing volleys of pistol shots. McKnight, a plumber, came here yesterday to obtain warrants for the arrest of some of his assailants of Sunday, whom he said he had recognized. County officials arrested him for carrying concealed weapons, and started with him for Center, the county seat, when he was again seized.

SHEPPARD-TOWNER BILL

It is difficult for any newspaper to oppose a measure professing to help neglected mothers and infants in every part of the country, which is the purpose of the Sheppard-Towner maternity bill now before the congress. It is because of the humane aspects of the measure that so many women favor it. Their aim is to do good; and if they can help a good cause, they are not very particular as to how they will do it. That, of course, is natural. It is the feeling of any well disposed person. Hence it is not strange that this bill is widely favored by women throughout the country. But the measure has an objectionable phase that must also be considered. It has been common knowledge that since the declaration of war in 1917, the government at Washington has been interfering in the local affairs of government and administration to an extent never before equalled. While this was perhaps wholly objectionable in time of peace, indeed it is damnable to have the spirit of our government to have a lot of variously designated bureaus meddling with the local affairs of the sovereign states. Bureaucracy and paternalism are foreign to our American system of government.

This Sheppard-Towner bill would establish a new bureau for political office holders and grafters, for field workers and peripatetic inspectors. The object of the bill is good, of course; but the method is bad. This work should be attended to by the states. The appropriation proposed is but $1,480,000, which would average about $30,000 for each of the states, but it is safe to say that the greater part of the money would be spent for administration. The federal government is not the proper agency to administer any such law. If congress wishes to contribute a fund for this movement, it should put the money at the disposal of the states. This tendency to extend the operations of the Washington bureau is not to be encouraged. The women voters will have to guard against such dangerous tendencies in government, even where, as in this case, the object is highly commendable.

It was bureaucracy and paternalism that ruined Germany by causing the people to look to the government for everything. It is a very dangerous thing for the government of the United States to copy the methods and the innovations of Prussianism either in domestic affairs, education or any other department. The states have all the machinery for doing the work proposed in the Sheppard-Towner bill and they should be privileged to attend to it.

If the federal government comes in to deal with such cases, the work of the states will be interfered with or stopped. There will be a conflict of authority between the state and federal officials. Each will assume that certain cases have been provided for by the other. The result will be that mendacity will be increased, the people will lose their self-reliance and the result will injure both them and the state instead of benefiting both. If that measure be enacted into law, it will establish a precedent and the Smith-Towner, the Brown-Towner and the Hatfield-Towner may come next.

Hence Mann Towner is a congressman from Iowa who has been a lecturer on constitutional law at the University of Iowa. It is rather strange that a lawyer who specialized, as we suppose he did, on constitutional law should become a leader in bringing forward legislation which is admittedly contrary to the spirit of the constitution.

AN ACT OF INGRATITUDE

Despite the fact that Great Britain owes the United States something over $1,000,000,000, yet the treasury department in Washington has just paid a claim of $32,000,000 to the British ministry of shipping for transportation services during the war.

It is rather strange that this claim should be paid while Britain has failed to pay the interest due on the loans advanced her. Why was not this amount credited to the overdue interest account of the British ministry of shipping? Why did not the treasury department discharge the debt by handing the British representatives a receipt for that amount on the interest account instead of the money?

Much has been said relative to the services rendered by Great Britain in helping to transport our troops to France. It was supposed that Britain was glad to get the troops to France in order to stay the German advance; but now appears she has put in her bill for a large claim and it has been paid. Let us hope we may hear no more of the aid that England rendered in getting our troops across.

In view of this liberal policy toward a foreign power, the postponement of the bonus bill and the neglect to take proper care of our disabled soldiers, it is not surprising that most of the service men are beginning to feel that the government is indifferent to their needs and their demands.

Attorney General Daugherty is said to have advised payment of this money; but the matter could have been arranged diplomatically to credit this amount to the interest account on the British loans and no objection would have been made.

Here is the situation revealed by this payment: Over four billions of our money with accrued interest in the hands of England, the money being used to promote reconstruction, to aid the British veterans of the war, while the United States government says it cannot compensate its service men without retarding the recovery of business.

World it have injured business in this country to have held this amount of nearly thirty-three million dollars that has been handed over to England? This act savors of real ingratitude to a greater extent than anything else the government has done since the present administration came into power. It betrays a wanton disregard of the fitness of things. If not of simple justice to the service men and the people of the United States.

MAKING IT CLEAR

According to a famous French professor, neither Shakespeare nor Bacon wrote the Shakespeare plays. The real author was the sixth Earl of Derby, ancestor of that Earl of Derby for whom the great English racing classic was named. To prove his contention the professor submits an algebraic formula which he used in working out the Derby cipher. The case is perfectly clear. Just as clear as the Einstein theory of relativity. Could anything be clearer than that?

HE LOVED MURIE (I)

He was a professional conjurer. "Now, ladies and gentlemen," he said with a wave of the hand, "this is a magic cabinet. I invite any lady in the audience to enter this cabinet." It will then close the door, and when it will be opened again the lady will have disappeared, leaving no trace. There was an impressive silence until a little undersized man in the second row turned to an enormous woman who sat by him and breathed eagerly: "Marie, dear, won't you oblige the gentleman?"

SECURITY OF FLAME

A certain admiral tells an amusing story of an explosive old seaman under whom he served many years ago. During some tactical operations one of the ships of the squadron had made some blunders and at last the admiral lost his temper. He stormed about the quarterdeck and informed his bearers of his opinion of the officer in command of the erring ship. When he paused at last for want of breath he turned to the signaller and said: "And you can tell him that, sir." The man scratched his head meditatively. "I don't think," he said, "I've ventured to flag for your message."

BLOW THAT KILLED GEORGE

"Yes," said one of the painted and powdered lasses engaged in a discussion of some young man named George, "he thinks he's just it. Tires me to hear him use big words that he doesn't know the meaning of." Second Lassie—"Yes, and he thinks every girl he meets is crazy about him. But I took some of the conceit out of him the other day. He was quoting poetry—a classic he called it. He asked me if I knew any poetry and I said: 'Here's a verse I said that fits you: "The rose is red, The violet blue, The grass is green, And so are you."'"

HE'S A LUCKY GUY

Let us turn our thoughts from the sizzling heat and contemplate the Eskimo. Fourth of July he was probably finding fault with his wife because she had mislaid his lotion for frost bites, while she was busy chopping off a piece of frozen butter for dinner. She did not cast anxious glances through the door to see if the ice man was coming, for every Eskimo is his own ice company. And while the good wife was melting snow in a pot to make Arctic punch, Mr. Eskimo was probably thinking of how many weary months he would have to wait until an exporter or a whaling ship came along to tell him who won the Dempsey-Schlesinger fight. Eskimo never ceases his trousers or changes his heavy underwear, and he never pays an income tax. The fashion of wearing summer furs originated with the Eskimos. The Eskimo spends most of his time in cleaning the snow off the sidewalk in front of his home, and hunting bears, sea lions and seals. He eats them all except their skins. His wife takes the skins together, and when they reach the thickness of three feet, she uses them as sheets for their twin beds. When a blizzard rages the Eskimo stays home and eats fried bear meat, drinks hot water, and is not worried about whether trolley cars run or not. There is no record of an Eskimo ever being overcome by the heat in July. His amusements are limited, but now and again when the weather is nice and mild, say about 15 degrees below zero, he and his neighbors get together and have a snow block party—Brooklyn Standard Union.

LITTLE THINGS

He rang in a little sooner Than the fellows in his shop; And he stayed a little longer When the whistle ordered "Stop." He worked a little harder And he talked a little less. He seemed but little better And he showed but little stress. For every little movement His efficiency expressed Thus his envelope grew just A little thicker than the rest.

HE SAVED A LITTLE MONEY

In a hundred little ways: He hanked a little extra When he gave a little raise. A little "working model" Took his little "leisure" time. He wrought each little part of it With patience most sublime. Now it's very little wonder That he murmurs with a smile, As he clips the little coupons: "Aren't the little things worth while?" —SELECTED.

THE HOUSEWIFE OF 1921

Now that the Woman's Suffrage is a reality, the American woman must henceforth be considered not merely as a housekeeper and home-maker, but as a voter—a citizen and a force in this work-a-day world. With added responsibilities her health should never be neglected, and when beset with ailments peculiar to her sex she ought to herself to first get the best old medicine first. Pinkettes' Vegetable Compound, a trial, as for over 40 years it has been the standby of American women in restoring them to health and strength.—Adv.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

That the Twilight league is well supported and appreciated by the people of Lowell is shown by the fact that on the street corners and at every other place where men congregate in the evening, the progress of the league is the principal topic of discussion. I happened to walk out last evening about 8:30 o'clock just after the game had been concluded and from every group of men that I passed I caught snatches of conversation which indicated that baseball was the topic of discussion. When men begin to talk so extensively about anything one may be pretty certain that it has come to stay.

One of the most eager and enthusiastic men in Lowell just about this time of year is Rev. Denis A. Sullivan, O. M. I., chaplain of the O. M. I. Cadets. In a very short time now Rev. Fr. Sullivan's juvenile army will be going into camp at Milligan's grove and he is busily making all sorts of preparations for the yearly event.

If you were to go into the police station at the present time you would see such a collection of apparatus for the manufacture of home brew as would open your eyes to the seriousness of the liquor situation in Lowell. Piled in the corridor of the station are several different varieties of stills together with a large collection of bottles of all kinds and even a small keg filled to the brim with the illicit liquid. All this stuff has been seized within a few days at houses and farms in and about Lowell.

It is quite astonishing to what an extent the motor truck is used for excursion parties on Sundays and holidays. It is a new form of conveyance in which large parties can enjoy outings at a distance from their homes where no trolley lines run. On Sunday there were as many as a dozen truck parties at Canobie Lake from Boston, Cambridge and Chelsea. From Lowell, more than a score of trucks went to the beach and many to other points. Riding on a truck is not quite so enjoyable as in an auto; but we presume it is not more jolly and springless than the ride on a one-man car. The motor truck in experienced hands is a safe vehicle for conveyance and where it is used by a party of friends, it affords them a greater opportunity of enjoyment than the more formal modes of conveyance by train or trolley.

The many friends of Raymond A. Whitten, former advertising solicitor for The Sun and later employed by George R. Dana Co., will be pleased to learn that he has met with success in California, where he went several years ago, partly to aid his health and partly because of an excellent business opportunity. Mr. Whitten is now the advertising manager of the Broadway department store in Los Angeles, one of the largest establishments of its kind on the Pacific coast. When he left Lowell he remained for a time in the automobile business, but later branched out into the field in which he is now employed. His wife, who is a daughter of the late Dr. Charles B. Sanders of this city, has been in Lowell the past few days, settling the estate of her father. A wide circle of friends and acquaintances will wish Mr. and Mrs. Whitten continued success in the west.

A bad doctor loses patients easily. A speeder discovers his mistake by accident. Some look upon marriage as a beau knot—and untie it. Those fifteen men on a dead man's chest must have been lawyers. Italy wants to pay America in lire. We have plenty, thanks. Picnic parties believe Noah had more than two ants in the ark. A grouch burns up every summer and freezes to death every winter. About the only infant industry the new tariff overlooks is Babe Ruth's.

An optimist is a man who believes the flies are looking for a way to get out. Harding seems likely to solve the peace dove's housing shortage problem. A well-dressed woman once wanted the most for her money—now it's the least. A dog gets mad if you don't give him water to drink; a man gets mad if you do.

If a man wants to marry a good job he must learn to love, honor and obey it. The kicker waits for business to pick up, while the hustler gets out and picks it up. Women hunt bargains. Perhaps that's why they like to make husbands feel cheap. The grief in every other home is that there's show every other home has an automobile. NEW YORK, July 20.—Pitcher Routhen of the Boston Nationals has been placed on the ineligible list. President Ebbets of the Superbas announced today. Routhen pitched Monday after a 9.0 day suspension. Mike said last night before leaving that the best birthday present he could get would be a signed contract for a match with Johnny Wilson, middleweight champion.

People With Thin Blood

Some people have a tendency to become thin-blooded just as others have an inherited tendency to rheumatism, or to nervous disorders. The condition in which the blood becomes so thin that the whole body suffers comes on so gradually and stealthily that anyone with a natural disposition in that direction should watch the symptoms carefully. Bloodlessness, or anemia, as the medical term is, can be corrected much more easily in the earlier stages than later. It begins with a tired feeling that rest does not overcome, the complexion becomes pale, and breathlessness on slight exertion, such as going up stairs, is noticed.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a home remedy that has been most successful in the treatment of diseases caused by thin blood. With pure and wholesome food these blood-making pills afford the correct treatment when the symptoms described are noticed. A former sufferer from anemia says: "I was emaciated and did not have a particle of color. I had severe headaches, and my ambition and energy just drag around. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills quickly restored appetite, flesh and health." The booklet, "Building Up the Blood," sent free by Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., contains a wealth of valuable information every thin-blooded person should read. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent direct by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 60 cents a box.—Adv.

VETERANS NEGLECTED

State Commander Calls on Government Officials to Make Promises Good

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, July 20.—Ordinary family pets are receiving better care than many of the veterans in service hospitals in this district. State Commander James T. Duane of the American Legion declared yesterday, after a survey of the situation.

He calls on government officials "in the name of God to put into action some of the promises that they have made to the handicapped veterans of the recent war."

"The adjusted compensation bill was placed in such a position by the United States senate that it appears it may have long slumber," he said.

"During the course of action on this bill practically all officials suggested that every effort should be devoted to the care of the sick and disabled soldiers. Hereafter, these suggestions have been flouted about by officials and the public, but the only thing furnished the disabled and sick veterans in abundance were suggestions, and suggestions have as yet failed to heal wounds or cure sickness."

Only definite action "may prevent many hundreds of veterans from committing suicide," said Commander Duane, "on account of despondency. Several hundred veterans have committed suicide, four in this district during the last five days."

"Last year congress appropriated $43,000,000 for hospitalization of veterans. This year, with 10,000 more cases in the hospital, the number increases weekly, there was appropriated only $30,000,000."

"The sundry civil bill, the last bill signed by President Wilson, appropriated $18,000,000. The senate declared this sum exceedingly urgent for the erection of hospitals. Two weeks ago Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, who displays such wonderful interest in the veterans, said that he would spend only $3,000,000."

It is such action as this that has allowed many true, patriotic, loyal Americans, who sacrificed their blood on the battlefields of France and returned to hospitals in the United States, to die condemning their government with their final breath. This is a sad, but true statement.

"As commander of the Massachusetts department, the American Legion, I ask our government officials in the name of God to put into action some of the promises that they have made to the handicapped veterans of the recent war."

cannot hope ever to become strong and well again unless they have plenty of good, rich, red blood of the kind that organic iron—Nuxated Iron—helps make. Nuxated Iron is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples, while metallic iron is iron just as it comes from the action of strong acids on iron filings. Nuxated Iron does not injure the stomach, but it is an entirely different thing from ordinary metallic iron. It quickly helps make rich, red blood, revitalizes worn-out, exhausted nerves and give you new strength and energy. Over 4,000,000 people annually are using it. At all druggists. ## Berton Braley's Daily Poem

The Great Dream

(President Harding Has Called a Disarmament Conference)

WE have sulked and glowered at our allies,
We have "pointed with pride" to our isolation,
We have listened to all of the shrieks and cries
Of those who'd make us a hermit nation.
But now we know—what we should have known—
That no one country can stand aside,
That no one people can live alone
In selfish glory and careless pride.

ABOVE the turmoil of party strife,
The voice of reason at length has spoken;
The hope of centuries leaps to life—
Perchance the fetish of War is broken.
If only the promise at last hold true,
And the world be freed of its monstrous burden
Of arms—more arms! If we only knew
That Peace Forever would be our gerdon!

WE'VE chosen to dawdle and balk and wait
Whenever our counsel or help were sought for.
But even now it is not too late
To save the dream that our soldiers fought for.
God grant that out of this plan may come
An understanding, a spirit splendid
To make the cannon forever dumb!
God grant that slaughter and hate be ended!

Adventures of The Twins

BIDDY JUMPS DOWN

THE DENSE FOG RUSHED OUT OF THE BAGS THAT NANCY AND NICK AND MR. SPRINKLE-BLOW HAD BROUGHT.

The dense fog rushed out of the bags that Nancy and Nick and Mr. Sprinkle-Blow had brought, and settled like thick smoke all through the valley.

Farmer Smith's sass-natch garden was completely covered, so was the swamp and the plum tree where Biddy Bantam was roosting. (So that she could keep one eye on her nest hidden in the hay stack.) You know she was going to cluck very soon, so she found a safe place to keep her eggs until she was ready to sit on them.

Mr. Moon, looking down with a kindly smile, was ever so surprised to discover all at once that he could no longer see a thing that was going on in the valley. He'd seen Plot Fox in the woods toward the plum tree, and he'd seen Cutie Cotton-tail pop off toward the garden, and he'd seen Chris Crow follow Cutie, but now he couldn't see anything at all. It was exactly as though someone had laid a nice, clean, white sheet over that part of the world.

But Mr. Moon wasn't the only one who was surprised. Biddy Bantam suddenly opened her eyes wide and squawked. "What's wrong? Where's the hay stack gone that had my nest in it? Where's everything gone? And she flopped down out of the plum tree into the fog. Fleet Fox saw her go, but how could he follow when he couldn't see two inches in front of his sharp nose.

Chris Crow, snooping after Cutie, had just got as far as the plum tree when the fog settled down. "Caw!" he croaked. "Where's that bunny gone? I can't see anything. What's happened?"

Chris flopped into the plum tree just as Biddy flopped down. Fleet Fox couldn't see very well, but he could hear, and he thought that Biddy had come back. (To be continued.)

MISS URBANEK HAS DONE GOOD WORK HERE

Miss Mary Urbanek, secretary of the North American Civic League for Immigrants, has just completed a most successful season's work among the Polish-speaking residents of Lowell and through her efforts a large number of men and women of that nationality have become better acquainted with American ideals and American standards. One of the chief purposes of the organization which she represents is to offset any propaganda which radicals may attempt to spread among the foreign-born residents of this country and inasmuch as the radicals disseminate their propaganda usually in the language of the people whom they wish to win over to their cause, the agency which is attempting to offset this propaganda must also make their appeal in the native language.

Miss Urbanek has done this most successfully. She started her work last September by delivering a lecture to a large audience of Polish residents. Then came the work of organizing classes. These classes in English for men, two classes in sewing for women, and one cooking class were opened and continued until a few weeks ago. A part of the enrollment in these classes resulted from Miss Urbanek's lecture and the rest was the result of personal canvassing.

Classes were conducted at night in the Varman, Green and Cabot street schools. In addition to work Miss Urbanek has also helped Polish-speaking people individually, advising and protecting them against exploitation and conveying to them the ideals of true Americanism. She has also assisted them in securing medical, legal and other advice. In fact, her organization offers service to these people in any form they desire it.

She recently helped to organize naturalization classes among Polish residents and with the co-operation of Supt. Hugh J. Molloy of the school department and the Y. M. C. A. 12 men were enabled to obtain their first papers.

Last Sunday the closing exercises of her classes were held at a picnic conducted at the grounds of the Polish Falcons in Dracut. Those present were addressed by Frank Wiech, also a worker for the North American Civic League, who talked on women's rights and citizenship in general. He suggested that an organization to be known as the Polish-American Women's club be formed here next fall and the idea met with general approval.

Miss Urbanek did only part-time work in Lowell since September, spending part of her time in similar work in Waltham. Her headquarters have been at the rooms of the chamber of commerce. She has also become known to local police officials and lawyers by acting as interpreter for Polish people in police court cases here.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

(By Theatres' Own Press Agents.)

MERRIMACK SQ. THEATRE

Final performances of "The Land of Hope," starring capable Alice Brady, will be given at the Merrimack Square theatre this evening. Tomorrow afternoon there will be a complete change of program.

The features for the second half of the week will be "The Road to Ambition," starring Conway Tearle, and "The Call From the Wild," an unusual outdoor production.

From a laborer in the steel mills to a power in the financial world is the feat accomplished overnight by Conway Tearle as Bill Matthews in "The Road to Ambition."

The story, which is by Elsie Sterne, is that of a young man who, through an invention for the betterment of steel output, is lifted from sordid surroundings to a world wherein he becomes a great power. He has phenomenal success with every venture he embarks upon, but finds himself handicapped by lack of the business and polish of the people he associates with. He is educated and introduced into society by a young woman to one of the best families, who is in need of money. In spite of having riches and everything he has dreamed of all his life, Bill finds himself unhappy because of his inability to win the love of the girl he adores. However, she marries him to save her father from financial ruin, telling him frankly that she does not love him. But in the end she recognizes his true worth, and grows to return his affection.

"The Call From the Wild" is a story of human interest, heart throbs and thrills—a tale of the great outdoors that carries an appeal to every lover of nature, to every soul that revels in the drama of the heart.

In the end, it shows that love finds the way; but it is not the love one man has for a woman nor the admiration of the heroine for the prince who comes riding by. It is the earnest tale of the lives of common folk, their weas and hardships, their joys and sorrows, in the pursuit of life in the rude surroundings of the sturdy men who brave the dangers and hardships incident upon home-building in the remote heights, far removed from the haunts of civilization.

A comedy, "Just in Time," and the International News will round out the bill.

THE STRAND

Elsie Hammerstein was never seen to better advantage than in her latest feature, "The Miracle of the Last Minute," which is to be shown for the last time today at The Strand. The picture of interest is directed by Eason, Jr., in "The Big Adventure." Both are truly exceptional pictures of the kind that are shown only once in a while. The remainder of the bill includes a good comedy, an interesting weekly, "The Theatre," and a "cool and comfortable" and there are 1000 seats at 10 cents each at all performances.

For the last three days of the week George Walsh in "Dynamite" Allen, and Gladys Walton in "Desperate" are the features. They will be shown for the first time at the Strand. "Dynamite" Allen is a story of a man who, through an invention for the betterment of steel output, is lifted from sordid surroundings to a world wherein he becomes a great power. He has phenomenal success with every venture he embarks upon, but finds himself handicapped by lack of the business and polish of the people he associates with. He is educated and writer to give the case special attention when it came up in superior court, as the gambling house was a menace to the community and a corrupter of the moral of the youth.

Tufts Case

Chase declared that the Mantha gambling house had been reopened under a system which seemed to warrant the belief that it insured absolute safety. "And one man had won $55." To trusted customers "safety buttons" were given. The long delay over this case, wrote Chase, was encouraged by those backing Mantha to believe that the Watch and Ward society can never interfere again.

Great Difficulty

Chase referred to the great difficulty he had experienced in obtaining a search warrant for the raid of the preceding August. The difficulty of getting a deputy sheriff to serve it, and declared that "the society appears to have but one friend in town—Judge Weeks." However, he had been charged by the judge to make known the facts to the upper court, and the society, if the unusual course of a new trial should be granted, was ready to present the evidence again.

Went to Tufts' Office

On May 4, Chase went to Tufts' office, and was informed that one of the assistants was handling the case. Confering with this official—whether it was Wagner, the witness was uncertain, he learned that only a $100 fine, without imprisonment, was to be recommended. The witness protested without avail. Arriving late in the superior courtroom, he found Judge McLaughlin was listening to a statement.

Called to Bench

He was called to the bench and made a statement as to the facts. "The assistant district attorney made his recommendation," but Judge McLaughlin refused to accept it, saying that such corrupting agencies in a community could not be handled with such an inadequate sentence as a fine." Mr. Chase charged that the papers which had come up from the lower court stated incorrectly that the plea there had been not guilty. The case was continued for trial, but the next the witness heard was that the $100 fine had been imposed.

On Other Grounds

The witness then asked whether it would not be possible for the libel to be entered on other grounds, less humiliating than adultery, and added that he supposed Mrs. Stearns would be unwilling to wait for a divorce on the grounds of adultery. Coakley replied in the affirmative and said that, as for cruel and abusive treatment, there had been no physical treatment of that kind, and if it were relied on there would have to be evidence introduced of unnatural acts on the part of Capt. Stearns, which would be revolting.

The witness suggested the use of intoxicating liquors, but Coakley responded that while such evidence

MRS. EUNICE FOSS IS OUT WITH FACTS

Declares Tanlac Should Be in Every Home—Troubles of Three Years' Standing Overcome

Another wonderful endorsement of Tanlac that will be read with interest by thousands of frail, ailing people in Boston and vicinity, was given by Mrs. Eunice Foss, a highly esteemed resident of 102 Pierce st., Malden, Mass., a few days ago.

Mrs. Foss has resided in Malden for the past ten years and her many friends will be glad to learn that she is now enjoying splendid health again, in describing her case and failure to heretofore find relief, Mrs. Foss said: "For the past three years my whole system seemed out of order. My appetite was no more. I scarcely averaged one good meal a day and I would have such a stuffed-up, bloated feeling after eating that I could hardly get my breath. This indigestion troubled me so at night that I often had to get up and walk the floor. There was a burning sensation, like fire in the pit of my stomach. Many foods I could not eat at all and the ones I like best seemed to hurt me the worst.

"My nerves were all upset so that even the door bell ringing, and other noises I have always heard, seemed to hear, would distract me. My sleep was never sound and many nights I heard the clock every time it struck, and then got up morose and tired and weak. I could hardly prepare the breakfast, often having to go back to bed. I lost considerable weight and was all run-down."

"On the advice of a friend from Lynn, Mass., I began taking Tanlac and now I prize it above every medicine I have ever used. It has brought fine results and four bottles have built me up until I am feeling fine. I am not troubled any more with gas, bloating, shortness of breath or any other signs of indigestion and my appetite is so keen that I can hardly eat enough to satisfy me. I used to have headache, but Tanlac has done away with it. My nerves are perfectly steady and I sleep from night to night hours every night without even waking once. I am now taking Tanlac (I have had strength to clean my eleven-room house. I even wash and wax my car. I have something to show for my Tanlac. I have gained weight and have not felt so well in years. I just can't praise Tanlac enough and if everybody knew its value as I do, there would be a bottle in every home in Massachusetts."

Tanlac is sold in Lowell by Green's drug store, and in the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative, by Wright Drug Co., Billerica, Mass.; A. D. Fells, Chelmsford, Mass.; Snow's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass., and by the leading druggist in every town.—Adv.

might be obtained, it would be likely to terminate Capt. Stearns' army career, and Mrs. Stearns did not want to do that. Therefore, the adultery charge had better be pressed, for the army authorities would be more likely to overlook that. Coakley said his client was difficult to handle, and would insist on the adultery charge.

Would Be Negligible

The witness inquired as to what the course of the district attorney would be, and Coakley responded that it would be negligible; that while he was obliged to certify the evidence to the district attorney, it was not customary for the district attorney to bring a case to trial, if the injured party did not insist, and in this case there would be no trouble.

In cross-examination the witness said that Coakley said he had been following a Waltham woman. The witness had heard the name "Jennie Penn." He never had any dealings with Tufts. Coakley's libel on the ground of adultery was never filed. The witness may have told Coakley that Capt. Stearns' fortune was about $75,000, but did not settle on a basis of one-third. On the contrary, the settlement cost about $35,000. The daughter lives part of the time with her mother and part with her father.

As a Partner

Frank W. Campbell of Melrose was called to testify as to the allegation that Tufts received emoluments, as a partner in the firm of Tufts, Harvey & Campbell, from taking part in the defense of persons charged with crime. Campbell said that the partnership began Jan. 1, 1920, each contributing about $200, and agreeing to divide the income equally.

The witness and Harvey acted for John A. Dondero, an associate of Ponzi, indicted with Ponzi for conspiracy and larceny Aug. 17, 1920; also for Henry T. H. Nelson, 261 Sydney street, Cambridge, with several aliases, in a case similar to that of Dondero. From Dondero $200 was received and from Nelson $250, all of which went into the partnership fund. The witness also had some other Ponzi investors as clients, including Mrs. Mary Joyce. The total amount of fees received was more than $100.

Tufts Appeared

Tufts appeared in the lower court and defended Boyd against the charge of operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. In cross-examination the witness explained that he had the Boyd case, but no account of being ill Tufts took it. Boyd being a neighbor of Tufts at Melrose, Boyd was found not guilty. Tufts has been in the Boston office only half a dozen times altogether, and his connection with the firm is only nominal.

In redirect, the witness agreed to bring the checkbook, but declared Tufts had given nothing. The divisions of profits have been monthly. Never knew of any money or checks being sent to Tufts. His salary as district attorney is $4000, and by arrangement is kept in separate from the firm. Harvey did not resign as assistant district attorney until January last.

"Poco" Bennett

Louis ("Poco") Bennett went on the stand to testify in the Corcoran case. The Corcoran brothers, employees at the East Cambridge jail, were charged by Bennett with receiving from him a $1000 bill to aid in getting his release on probation. Later they were said to have given it back. Bennett was called before Tufts, and later before the grand jury, which returned no bill, but Mr. G. A. H. made a report to the county commissioners and, following their investigation, and that of Sheriff Fairbank, the Corcoran brothers were discharged. Bennett is serving a sentence for conspiracy in connection with the holdup and shooting of the paymaster of the Everett Electric Light company. His time is up Aug. 2.

The Hart Case

Boston and Cambridge police officers testified concerning the case of James Hart, a former Boston policeman, indicted for larceny of an automobile in November, 1918, but whom Tufts is alleged to have shielded and protected from prosecution through

Improver motives. Chief Inspector Patrick Hurley of the Cambridge police testified he told Tufts of the finding of the automobile in a barn in Saxtons, for which Hart paid two months rent in advance, and that Hart wanted to make an appointment to confess to the district attorney. Five days later Hart was brought to Tufts, but had changed his mind about the confession. Later Hart was indicted for receiving stolen automobiles, but Tufts did not go before the grand jury. The indictment was secret. The witness tried to get a capias for the arrest of Hart. Later he was brought in on another charge, but the witness never learned what happened after that, or how Hart pleaded.

Known of No Capias. Inspector Michael Nellan corroborated Hurley's testimony. The witness knew of no capias being issued by the district attorney's office, and no attempt for the arrest of Hart, who was dropped from the Boston police force.

PEACEFUL PICKETING AT LOCAL THEATRES

The union employees of the local theatres who severed their connections with the amusement houses last Sunday evening, in accordance with a two weeks' notice given them by the managers, have started peaceful picketing at the entrances of the theatres where they were formerly employed. Last evening, patrons of all the local movie houses which are still open were approached as they were about to enter the theatres and told that they were going into houses "unfair to union labor."

The unwillingness of "their" stage hands, musicians and operators to accept a wage reduction is given by the managers as their reason for giving their union employees notice to quit work. The managers contend that their business does not warrant the payment of the salaries which have been in force during the past year. The former employees, on the other hand, contend that no opportunity for a conference to discuss matters was given them.

from Pasadena, California. The tourists were at no expense for hotel bills, as they "camped out" each night during their crossing of the continent. They made a run of 55 miles on the final day of their journey. They are now the guests of Reuben White, of Shedd street, where they will remain until Aug. 5, when they return to the west coast.

The old songs are rarely if ever duplicated. Today, they are as full of melody as in years ago when our ancestors delighted in singing them. This is one reason for old timers' night at Lakeview tonight. "When You and I Were Young," "Maggie," "Ben Bolt," "Annie Laurie," "Old Black Joe," "The Maid o' Dundee," "Sally in Our Alley"—are there any modern songs to match these? No, sir! They are among the numbers to be played by Miner-Boyle's big orchestra tonight. Meanwhile don't forget the swimming races for cash prizes tomorrow afternoon. After a 5000-mile motor trip, lasting 21 days, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fehlings and party reached this city yesterday north, is most dangerous and expensive to automobilists. They emphasized the fact that they came before the council not to dictate but merely to lay the facts before it and make suggestions. In conclusion, a rising vote in favor of the project was recorded and Mayor Thompson, after congratulating those present on their get-together spirit as manifested in the recently organized Centralville Improvement association, assured them that their petition would receive the serious consideration of the council. The hearing lasted 50 minutes.

Hearing in Detail

The mayor called to order at 7:40. Commissioner Murphy was absent. The mayor said that the purpose of the meeting was to hold a hearing on the petition of John H. Beaulieu et al., that Lakeview avenue be repaved from Bridge street to the Dracut line. John J. McPadden, chairman of the committee on streets of the Centralville Improvement association, was the first speaker.

He said that the petition represented all the residents of Centralville. He spoke of the deplorable condition of Lakeview avenue and of the resultant heavy transit on adjacent streets. He said that the people of all Lowell would consider the paving of Lakeview avenue a service to them.

Henry H. Harris said that all the residents of Centralville, not merely those of West Centralville, wanted the improvement. He said that the people of Centralville had gotten together as they have never been together before. Mr. Harris said that just before the hearing he had driven over Lakeview avenue and found it in dreadful condition.

Thomas B. Delaney said he passed over the street four times a day. He didn't want the portals of the city treasury thrown open widely or hazarded, but he did believe that a section of the city boasting 30,000 or 35,000 people should receive at least a little consideration. He described the deplorable condition of West Sixth street as a result of the divergence of traffic from Lakeview avenue.

Charles Cordeau said that he was in business on Lakeview avenue but that owing to its poor condition, he was unable to use it.

Everybody Is Suffering

John J. Mahoney said that the street was in such a wretched condition that everybody in West Centralville was suffering. He said that there was no use fixing other streets in Centralville until Lakeview avenue is repaired. He added that if some of the auto speeders were compelled to ride over the street a few times all the speed mania would be taken out of them.

Thomas P. Garvey, president of the Centralville Improvement association, spoke briefly in favor of the project. James J. Gutter said that he owned property on the street. He believed that the streets most in need of repair should be given first attention. If any other section needed repairs more than Centralville he was willing that it should receive first attention. He felt that if Centralville's claim were just, it should receive consideration. He said that grout paving could be used, not necessarily block paving.

Narcissa Gadois said Lakeview avenue was the main thoroughfare between Lowell and the north, but that autos and other vehicular traffic have to make a wide detour before reaching the good part of the highway in Dracut. He said that Alken avenue was one of the streets destroyed because of heavy traffic diverted from Lakeview avenue. He said that if it were properly repaired it would not need attention for 50 years.

He stated he had been paying taxes for 30 years but had received little return for them.

Damage to Machines

Harry Pitts said Centralville had no selfish motive in asking for the improvement. He said that he used Lakeview avenue six times a day and knew what its condition was. He declared that the damage to machines was great and he was in a position to know because he is in the automobile business.

He added that he knew of no thoroughfare in the city more dangerous than Lakeview avenue. He said there have been many near-accidents as a result of a groove made by the machines which try to keep one wheel in the car track. He had no fault to find with Commissioner Murphy or his work as he knew he had his hands full.

John P. Burns said that his family had paid taxes in Centralville 40 years and that he wanted to be recorded in favor of the project.

Charles P. Stickney spoke at length on the petition and other street matters, finally registering his objection to the petition.

Mr. McPadden said that the petitioners wished simply a permanent paving, not necessarily smooth paving.

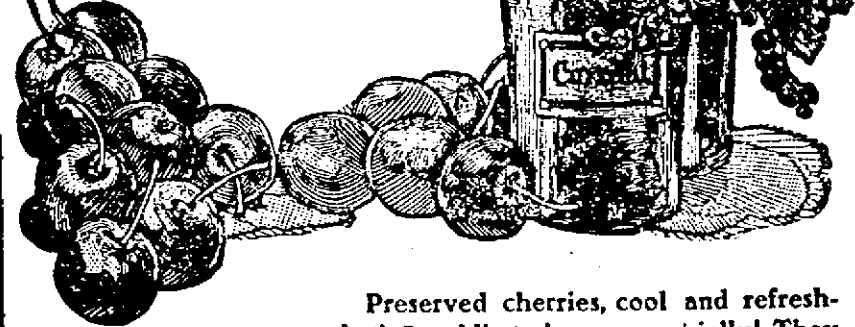

Henry J. Rogers was registered in favor. Several other residents were registered in favor individually, and then a rising vote, unanimously in favor of the project, was taken.

The mayor said that the council wished to stimulate the get-together spirit in the various sections of the city. He said that the program of street repair outlined at the beginning of the year included a number of Centralville streets. However, if the residents of that section wished to have these streets sidetracked until Lakeview avenue is repaired, he believed that the council would favor it. He assured those present that their petition would be given most serious and sober consideration.

Adjourned at 8:30.

Battle Over Pound of Flesh Ends—Benny Leonard and Lew Tendler Will Meet, Aug. 12

BY DEAN SNYDER

The pound of flesh which literally has kept Champion Benny Leonard and Lew Tendler, chief contender for the lightweight throne, from meeting on the rusted canvas is going to be chopped off.

Benny will do the chopping. They will weigh in at 135 pounds at 2 o'clock August 12, when they meet at the National League ball park in Philadelphia for their 8-round non-decision fight.

For over two years promoters have tried in vain to get Benny and Lew in the ring together.

There has been more hitching in getting these two lightweights together than any other two fighters in the world.

Always it has been the pound of flesh which kept them apart.

At first Lew demanded that Benny make 133 pounds, the popularly recognized lightweight limit. Recently he has raised the ante and consented to 135 at 2 o'clock, the same weight at which Benny fought and won the title from Freddy Welsh, May 23, 1917, in a New York ring.

And Benny has always feared up and said: "Who is Tendler that he should dictate terms to the champion?" The champ has feared until recently that 136 pounds was his proper weight for the Philadelphia.

Many cryptic remarks have been hurled back and forth between the rival camps.

Herman Taylor and Bobby Gunnis, the Philadelphia promoters who have roped in the match, have accomplished what even Rex Rickard couldn't.

Philadelphia is the logical place for the match. It is Lew's home town. He'll draw like a vacuum there.

Quaker Town has always thought he was the one man in the world who could muss up the great Leonard and keep his crown. And Benny will draw anywhere he pulls a glove on.

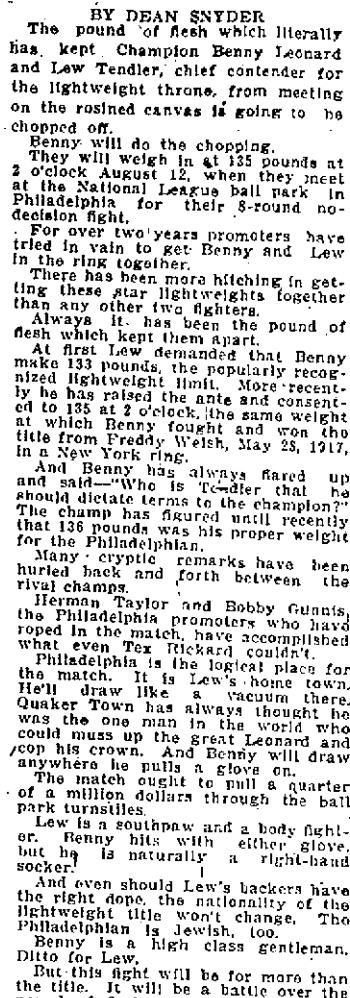

The match ought to pull a quarter of a million dollars through the ball park turnstiles.

Lew is a southpaw and a body fighter. Benny hits with either glove, but he is naturally a right-hand boxer.

And even should Lew's backers have the right dope, the nationality of the lightweight title won't change. The Philadelphia is Jewish, too.

Benny is a high class gentleman. Ditto for Lew.

But this fight will be for more than the title. It will be a battle over the pound of flesh which has kept them apart for two years.

The Highland Daylights Push Gillespies 'Way Back to the Tall Timbers

Last evening on the South common, the Highland Daylights won a 3 to 2 victory over the Gillespies and thereby sent the latter team deeper into the oblivion that ensnared last place.

Charlie Bird, the dean of Twilight baseball, introduced himself on the mound for the Gillespies and, all things considered, the veteran put up a showing that was not half bad. If his team mates had made the same creditable showing as did the "grand old man," the final results might have been far different, but the necessary team work was not in evidence and the eagle of victory refused to roost on the Gillespie standard.

The Highland Daylights got their first runs in the second inning. Smith was allowed to walk. Sullivan fled out to center and then Freeman. Peterson and Dolan came across with a hit apiece, bringing in three runs.

The next two men were easy outs and the side was retired with the Daylights holding a comfortable lead over their opponents. In the third, the team got another tally on an error by Dean and a couple of hits by Smith and Sullivan.

Shirley, who had been in the third, Dean was given a pass and O'Hara hit to left, scoring Dean. Two strikeouts and an unassisted putout by Belleville retired the side. Score: 4-1.

Things looked promising in the sixth when the Gillespies got two more runs on an error by Belleville and a three base hit by Tuohy, but that was their limit and the game petered out in the last stanza, when Greenstade brought home another tally for the Highland Daylights. The score:

FIREMEN WILL PLAY BALL AT REVERE
Next Saturday the members of the second shift baseball team of the local fire department will journey to Revere where they will cross bats with the fire department team of that city. The game will be a feature of the annual outing of the Revere fire department, which will be held at Revere beach. The trip to Revere will be made in automobile trucks, which will leave the Central fire station at 10 a. m.

An Friday, Aug. 5, the local players will play the strong Manchester, N. H. police team in the Queen city and it is expected that many fans from this city will accompany the players on their New Hampshire trip.

The last game of baseball played by a local team was in this city last Saturday, when they matched their skill with the Lynn fire department, the latter team winning by a score of 12 to 5.

PENNANT STANDING IS AT STAKE IN GAMES
CLEVELAND, July 20.—Possession of first place in the American league standings is at stake in the four game series which is scheduled to open here today, between the Cleveland Indians and the New York Yankees.

This morning, the world's champions were leading by less than one game. The series finds Manager Spalding better satisfied with his pitchers than he has been for two years. He has seven ready to go against the Yankees—Coveleskie, Bagby, Uhl, Mails, Morton, Caldwell and Sothorn.

The bureau of markets in Washington has set up a complete miniature flour mill, for experimental purposes.

GOOD GAME SATURDAY

Lowell K. of C. and Canton

Towp Team Meet at Spalding Park

One of the best local games of the season is promised baseball fans for next Saturday afternoon, when "Nixey" Coughlin's K. of C. nine will line up against Olaf Hendrikson's Canton town team at Spalding park. Hendrikson is the former Red Sox star who helped to bring the world's championship title to the Boston Red Sox a few years ago, and he is well known to many local fans on account of having played with one of the old New England league teams.

The Canton team a few weeks ago scored a victory over the strong Abbot Worsted Co. team at Graniteville, and their season's record has been an almost continuous string of victories.

Manager Coughlin will present his best lineup Saturday. Jimmy Davidson will once more be on the mound for the Knights.

leagues few arguments would be started.

For "Stuffy" is just about that. So far this year he has handled more than 150 chances for hits, but error. His fielding average is .939.

He led the first basemen of both leagues in fielding in 1920 with an average of .946. His record in 18 games was 1536 putouts, 91 assists and 7 errors.

AMATEUR BASEBALL
The Rockfords are without a game for next Saturday and would like to hear from some of the fast teams in the city. Manager can be seen any night between 5 and 6 at 104 Rock street.

St. Peter's A. A. has two big games scheduled for the week-end. On Saturday afternoon the team will play the strong Owls of Lawrence on the North common at 2 o'clock and on Sunday afternoon it will meet the Oakleaves on the south common at the game house in one of the regular games of the City League.

GOOD GAME SATURDAY
The C.M.A.C. of this city will meet the Lawrence Nationals on the Tenth school campus next Saturday afternoon, at 3:15. The Nationals are one of the strongest outfits in the downriver city and recently scored a victory over the strong Lawrence Canoe club.

ALL STARS ARE STILL IN GOOD STANDING

Providence, R.I., July 20.—The state championship play continued today on the courts of the Agawam Hunt club, with all stars still in good standing. The men's singles was advanced to the fourth round and the women's matches were in the third round.

A 15-year-old miss, her pigtail swinging with each stroke, is a star of the women's tournament. The child, Miss Helen Willis of Berkeley, Cal., came out of the west after a five day trip on the train, went onto the courts and won her way to the third round of play by successes over more experienced players. In two matches she won each in straight sets and lost only three games in one and four in another.

The Massachusetts Mills Ball club met its first defeat at Worcester Saturday, to the score of 6-6 by the first nine of the Crompton & Knowles loom works of that city.

The Massachusetts boys made the trip with a strong bunch of rooters in time to make a trip through the factory. They were then escorted to the million dollar recreation park of the Crompton & Knowles loom works where a luncheon was served in the club house. After partaking of lunch, the boys viewed the grounds that have a wonderful beach for swimming along the lake.

The game was called at 3 p. m. and was an interesting game throughout. The Massachusetts club will try to bring the Worcester club to this city and believe they can wipe out Saturday's defeat.

The loom work boys played snappy ball throughout but wild base running and loose fielding at times cost the Massachusetts boys the game.

The wonderful pitching of "Iron Man" Peterson and the playing of Brennan, Allan and Cheswick featured the game.

This evening the Massachusetts Mills team will meet the Root Mills players in a postponed twilight league game on the First Street oval.

TRYING TO KEEP PACE WITH BABE RUTH
BY DEAN SNYDER
Lanky George Kelly has fallen into the driftwood waters trying to keep pace with Goliath Babe Ruth.

But don't blame George entirely. He doesn't do it 'cause Babe does as he pleases.

There's a lot of difference in that when it comes to racing smoke balls every day.

Babe gets his privileges because he is essentially a fence wrecker. His home running has been commercialized by the Yankees. That's what fans want to see him do. Hence he gets the whole rope.

George is as good a hitter as Babe. But he isn't a home run attraction. He is a cog in the giant machine.

John McGraw from his perch in the dugout, pulls the strings which make George lay it down, hit-and-run or swing for himself.

41 AMERICAN LEADERS HAVE QUALIFIED

WASHINGTON, July 20.—With 41 of the leading golf professionals of the country and two foreign entrants for the American open golf championship already qualified for the final round of the title play, the second half of the qualifying round in the annual classic opened today.

Among the prominent players who were scheduled to play this morning were Robert J. Jones, Jr., of Atlanta, Ga., declared by Harry Vardon to be the leading American amateur; Leo Diegel of Detroit, one of the four men in a tie for second place last year; Toledo; James M. Barnes of Pelham Bay, and George Duncan of the Bangor Hill club, near London.

Charles Evans, Jr., of Chicago, the amateur champion of the United States, will tee off in the afternoon play with Charles H. Murray of Montreal, Canada.

BUSINESS REVIEW
Wall Street Expects Roads to Start Boom

BY ALBERT APPLE
Wall Street now inclines to the belief that business revival, when it starts, will begin with heavy buying of equipment and supplies by the railroads.

Robert Hoover points out that "the railroads normally consume 20 per cent of all materials and employ, directly or indirectly, 20 per cent of all labor in the United States."

That is a potential buying power big enough to pull the whole country out of depression.

Hence Wall street considers it very important that the railroads lately are making a much better financial showing.

Idle freight cars have been reduced to 373,791, says latest reports of American Railway association. Three months ago there were 507,274 idle cars.

In the week ended June 25, latest reported, number of cars loaded with revenue-producing freight on all American railroads was 775,051, against 846,484 cars some week 1919.

Many railroad repair shops are being re-opened.

Weatherman
"Last week was one of the most satisfactory weeks in real trade for two years, despite the hot weather," says Arthur & Co. This shows better public confidence in business situation. Dutchers for several months have been doing bad business, reflecting consumers' economy.

June building activity was 6 per cent less than May, in money figures, says F. W. Dodge Co. reports.

Total tonnage of American exports in May was 23 per cent greater than in May, 1919, with prices averaging 22 per cent higher.

Auto business is 10 per cent more prosperous than any other industry, claims Alfred Reeves, president, National Automobile chamber of commerce.

Cotton production promises to be smallest in quarter-century.

Textile manufacturers are running average of 90 to 70 per cent capacity, says Bradstreet's.

Postoffice receipts at 50 leading postoffices in June were nearly twice as big as in June, 1919.

Corn exports last week 200 times as big as same week 1919, and more than 10 times as big as same week 1920.

Wholesale prices in June averaged an allowance of about 1 per cent, says Bradstreet's, which keeps on prices of 56 leading commodities. But, which keeps track of prices of 337 articles, says wholesale prices dropped average of nearly 4 per cent.

In last few months, several industries have experimented, raising prices. This has instantly stopped buying. Traders that for some time there will be no rebound from falling prices.

PROTEST OF DOUGLASS AGAINST HIDES DUTY
BROCKTON, July 20.—Former Gov. W. L. Douglas has sent a telegram to Chairman J. W. Forney of the ways and means committee, voicing his strong disapproval of a tariff on hides, and predicting that it will mean an increase in the retail price of footwear.

CLAIMS UNION DEFEAT

TAKING AIR SOUNDINGS

U. S. Weather Bureau Does it Daily for the Benefit of Aviators

By A. H. PALMER
Meteorologist, U. S. Weather Bureau,
San Francisco

The sounding of the ocean of air is a new undertaking, one extending over a few years only. The advent of aerial navigation has accelerated the investigation of the atmosphere. There are three methods employed

In sounding the ocean of air: (1) by means of kites; (2) by means of sounding balloons, and (3) by means of pilot balloons.

Upper air data obtained have proved to be of great value to the aviator. Some of the facts determined are as follows:

Barometric pressure invariably decreases with height, as there is less and less overhead as one ascends.

Temperature usually decreases with height up to about ten miles, where for a mile or two it does not change further with increase of height, while beyond that the temperature rises slowly.

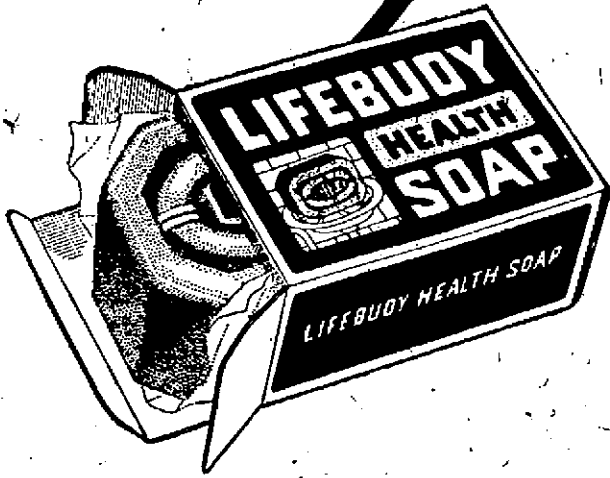

Above three or four miles the temperature of the air is always below freezing.

Wind velocity always increases with height, and velocities of 60 miles per hour and higher are common at heights of three to five miles.

The highest clouds are found at levels of five to seven miles, but the little water they contain is usually in the form of needles of ice.

Gustiness is a phenomenon found only within a mile of the earth's surface.

There are no "holes in the air." However, the air is sometimes more or less attenuated in the center of a vortex whirl, either vertical or horizontal.

The U. S. Weather Bureau now has six aerological stations where upper air observations are made every day in one of the ways outlined above.

The data thus obtained are telegraphed to the headquarters in Washington, where forecasts for the special benefit of aviators are made twice each day.

INSIDE NEWS AT THE CAPITAL

(By Newspaper Enterprise)

WASHINGTON, July 20.—The United States will not agree to a "preliminary conference" to be held in London in advance of the Washington conference on limitation of armament, at which far east problems would be considered.

The administration is of the opinion not only that the two problems must be considered together, because the extent of disarmament will depend largely on the adjustment of far east relationships, but also that any advance conference would complicate rather than simplify the discussions at the later meeting.

The atmosphere of America is looked upon by President Harding and Secretary Hughes as not the least of the considerations making it desirable that the coming disarmament conference be held in Washington.

Here, it is believed, the conferees will be most widely removed from the political and national jealousies that might tinge any conference held in any European capital.

Also, with the conference held in Washington, where reactions of American public sentiment may most quickly be registered, it will be possible to tell with some assurance whether the agreements reached will be acceptable to the American people. And that, officials say, the situation following the Versailles treaty proved to be a most essential factor. As one high official puts it: "American public opinion will be a vital factor."

Investigators, of whom the government has had scores in every line of activity the past few years, are going to be less in demand in the future.

The opinion of administration heads is that the findings of investigators, as such, do not amount to much and that necessary inquiries may be made better in some other way.

For instance, the department of justice is to reduce its force of investigators by at least half.

Investigation hereafter will be principally by grand juries.

Attorney General Daugherty has set himself the job of making over the "political patchwork" of our present system of federal courts into "a scientific piece of judicial machinery."

"The trouble has been," Daugherty says, "that we have added new judges and new districts from time to time, largely because of political considerations. What we want to do now is to forget politics and reorganize the federal judicial machinery in the interest of efficiency and the expedition of justice."

90 barrels of gasoline pass through your engine

Power, freedom from trouble, economy—all depend on your care in selecting the fuel

GALLON after gallon—day after day—gasoline pours through your engine. 90 barrels in the life of the average car. What is this fuel doing to your motor?

Engineers state that ordinary gasoline is the cause of many of the most common engine troubles. Such fuel vaporizes slowly, contaminates the lubricating oil, often causing friction and wear that will cost you hundreds of dollars in repairs.

See that this great flow of fuel does not injure your engine. Made to operate best on the famous lean 15 to 1 mixture, Tydol, the Economy Gasoline, prevents trouble. Tydol vaporizes fast. That's why it burns clean, with less carbon, gives you pickup and power, and high mileage. Look for the orange and black sign. Fill up with Tydol to-day.

Rotary Club Outing

tucket street waiting for the signal to start. Each machine was given two large placards bearing the number which should designate its place in line and on each windshield was pasted a label bearing the legend: "Children's Outing, Lowell Rotary Club." Redmond Welch, superintendent of police, took up his position at the head of the line at the junction of Merrimack and Pawtucket streets and behind him was the United States Carriage Co. hand in a truck. While the machines were getting their proper position in line the band played several lively airs.

Finally everything was ready for the start and Harry Pitts, chairman of the committee in charge of the outing, shouted "Let's Go" and the outing was on.

The parade started promptly at 11 o'clock with Supt. Welch, the band and the members of the committee in the lead. The route of the parade was down Merrimack to Central, to Middlesex to Smith and the Princeton boulevard to the Martin Luther grounds. In all there were more than 50 machines, including ten trucks and there was plenty of room for everybody. All the children were badges and American flags were very prominently displayed. Many of the sisters of the orphanages and matrons of the homes accompanied the children. The long line of machines, gallantly adorned, the children singing and shouting happily and the band playing catchy tunes caused scores of people to stop on the sidewalks along the route of parade and to wave a greeting at the joyful youngsters. Upon arrival at the grounds each child was given a souvenir hat and a basket lunch. Then came a number of juvenile performances, including a Punch and Judy show, a sleight of hand performance and dancing by little Elinor Mae Pitts. During the entertainment the children were given lollypops and toy balloons. Then there was plenty of ice cream, orangeade, candy and popcorn, furnished through the courtesy of local dealers. Through the courtesy of the park department, playground paraphernalia was established on the grounds and a corps of playground teachers was on hand to assist the kiddies in playing games. The band played all afternoon.

The safety of the children was taken care of by several policemen, a first aid tent and several nurses. Special precautions were taken against having the children go near the river bank.

The homes and orphanages which were represented at today's outing were the Ayer home, the French-American orphanage, St. Peter's orphanage, Day Nursery and O'Leary home. The machines which carried the children from the various homes were divided into five divisions with the following captains in charge: Abel R. Campbell, H. Hutchins Parker, Herbert W. Horn, James E. Moody and Paul B. Chandler.

The committee in charge of the outing was as follows: Harry Pitts, chairman; William A. Mitchell, Harry G. Pollard, Thomas Lees, Alvan H. Weaver and Walter R. Jeyes. Robert W. Thompson, president of the Rotary club, and the other officers also took an active part in making and carrying out the arrangements.

The outing was supervised and financed by the Rotary club with the co-operation of individual merchants and citizens who provided machines, supplies, or assisted in some other way to make the occasion a success. It was the first affair of its kind conducted by the Rotary club here, but it is planned to hold a similar outing once a year from now on.

Nearly 500 children and 100 adults attended today's outing and the day's program called for the start home at 5 p. m.

DEATHS

McNELTY—Alice Rita McNulty, beloved daughter of George A. and Ellen T. (Rourke) McNulty, died last night at the home of her parents in East Chelmsford, aged 6 years, 1 month and 6 days. Besides her parents she leaves two brothers, George A. Jr. and Eddie, and three sisters, Marietta, Helen J. and Gertrude McNulty. Owing to the cause of death a private funeral was held this afternoon at 4 o'clock, and burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery in charge of Undertakers Jas. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

CORSON—Jeanette M. Corson, aged 72 years, 11 months and two days, widow of Frank Corson, died at the Old Ladies' home, this morning, after a long illness. She was born in Buffalo, New York, and for the past 15 years has been a resident of this city. The past three months she has lived at the Old Ladies' home, 520 Fletcher street. The funeral arrangements are in charge of Undertaker William H. Saunders.

FUNERAL NOTICES

CURRAN—Died July 18, Benjamin Curran. Funeral will take place on Thursday morning at 8 o'clock, from his late home, 542 Gorham street. Funeral high mass of requiem will be sung at St. Peter's church at 9 o'clock. Burial will take place in St. Patrick's cemetery. The funeral arrangements will be in charge of Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Eusebio Fortin and Miss Laura D. Desrochers were married last evening at the parsonage of the Pawtucket Congregational church, the ceremony being performed by Rev. A. G. Lyons. The couple will make their home in Lowell.

Up to a few years ago the sultan forbade the importation of farm machinery into certain parts of Turkey.

FUNERALS

HUNT—The funeral of Mrs. Ella C. Hunt took place from the funeral church, 225 Westford street, yesterday afternoon. The services were conducted by Rev. Joseph E. Kennedy, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. Appropriate selections were sung by Mrs. Fred L. Roberts, with Mrs. Helen C. Taylor at the organ. The attendance was large and the floral tributes were numerous. The bearers were Messrs. Aubrey L. Hunt, Earl W. Costello, Albert Currier, Schuyler Huff and Walter E. Sands. Burial was in the family lot in the Edison cemetery. The funeral arrangements were in charge of George E. Ames, under the direction of Undertaker George W. Healey.

BURNHAM—The funeral of Mrs. Mary Burnham took place this morning at 8 o'clock, from the funeral parlor of Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons. The funeral cortege proceeded to the Immaculate Conception church where, at 9 o'clock, a funeral high mass of requiem was sung by Rev. Denis Sullivan. The choir sang the Gregorian chant, the solos being sustained by Miss Isabella McKiernan, Charles Smith and James Donnelly. Mrs. Hugh Walker presided at the organ. There were many spiritual offerings. Burial took place in St. Patrick's cemetery, where the committal prayers were read by Rev. Fr. Sullivan, O.M.I. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons.

CLARKE—The funeral of Bridget Clarke took place this morning from the home of her nephew, Mr. John Tighe, 55 Franklin street, at 9 o'clock. The cortege was attended by relatives and friends. The cortege proceeded to St. Patrick's church, where a high mass of requiem was celebrated at 9 o'clock by Rev. Fr. Sullivan. The choir sang the Gregorian mass, Miss Frances Tighe and Mr. Frederick Cummings sustaining the solos. Mr. Michael Johnson presided at the organ. There were many floral tributes and spiritual bouquets. The bearers were John Tighe, Thomas J. Leo E. and John W. Tighe. Interment, Rev. Fr. Sullivan read the committal prayers. Undertaker Peter H. Savage in charge of funeral arrangements.

MORE ABOUT STREET PAVING BY CONTRACT

"If the street paving in Lowell had been done by contract for the past two years, the city would now have enough money left from the amount that has actually been expended to pave Lakeview avenue," said Secretary George P. Wells of the chamber of commerce this morning. The secretary said that he had no time to compile any actual figures on the subject, but was fairly sure that the difference in the costs of the two methods of paving would more than equal the cost of the Lakeview avenue job.

Mr. Wells stated that if the coming election favored contract paving, Lakeview avenue could be paved for almost half of what it would cost under the present system.

When asked what the attitude of the chamber of commerce was toward the request of the Centralville Improvement association that Lakeview avenue be paved as far as the city line, the secretary said that he did not know the official stand that the chamber would take upon the question, but the matter has not yet been discussed at a meeting of the chamber and therefore the members as a body had not rendered an official opinion.

WORLD'S PEACE AGAIN MENACED

British Urge Convening of Supreme Council to Consider Silesian Problems

Believed Trouble is Cause of Postponement of Consideration of Irish Question

Present Condition Causing Grave Anxiety to All European Governments

LONDON, July 20. (By the Associated Press.)—It was stated in authoritative quarters today that informal suggestions have been made for American intervention in the Upper Silesian trouble, which it is feared will threaten open hostilities.

The British government is urging the immediate convening of the supreme council to consider the complications caused by charges that the German protective organizations in Upper Silesia are still functioning, constituting a danger to the allied authorities, which have been followed by demands, notably from France, that the allied forces there be increased. Such a meeting, however, has been opposed by the French on the ground that they considered nothing would result, in which case the situation would be rendered materially worse.

There seems good reason to believe that the menace to European peace which it is held the Silesian question presents is the real cause for the postponement of further action on the Irish question and other matters of moment.

The Silesian question, it is stated, is causing grave anxiety to all governments of Europe.

Important developments in this connection are expected within the next 48 hours.

It is understood in official quarters that Great Britain considers the despatch of more troops to Upper Silesia unnecessary and that all the facts with regard to Silesia already are available for the supreme council. At the same time, it is held to be unnecessary to summon a committee of experts, as has been suggested to pass judgment on the question of the Silesian boundary.

Miss Mary Mahoney, who was recently appointed stenographer for the election commissioners, has taken up her duties and is now helping the commission in making arrangements for the special election to be held Aug. 9.

The vacancy of the position of city engineers caused by the election of Henry J. Bowers to the superintendent of streets has not yet been filled. Commissioner Dennis A. Murphy has written to the civil service commission for a list of eligibles but as yet he has not received a reply.

TRY AND FIND A PLACE FOR LITTLE "JOE"

A lovable and intelligent 13-year-old boy, who has spent several months in Lowell trying to make a living after being sent away by his mother, is now awaiting someone who will give him a home. "Joe," as his name is, walked into police headquarters a few days ago and told the officials that he couldn't "go it alone" and longer. He told of his mother sending him from their home in Amesbury, giving him $5 and telling him to go and stay with some people she knew in Lowell. Then she departed, saying she was leaving for some other city.

The youngster came here and was allowed to remain with the friends of his mother's for some time. Then they told him to return home, but he had no home to go to. He has been wandering about the city, gaining a livelihood as best he could. For a time a local baker gave him shelter, in return for which the lad worked wrapping up loaves of bread. Then the bakery closed and Joe was thrown again upon his own resources. Recently he gave up the struggle to get along unaided. He is now in the care of the Lowell Humane society. A temporary abode has been secured for him by Agent Charles S. Richardson. It is hoped that some family will offer to take care of him until he has passed the school age, when it is believed he will be able to hold any regular job, as he is said to be bright for his age.

GILLESPIE PLANT TO OPEN MONDAY

Local people hit by the unemployment crisis, and seeking work, may apply at the Gillespie plant, Middlesex street, on Monday morning, it was announced at the headquarters of the concern today. According to the statement made yesterday by Mr. Gillespie, the factory for the manufacture of electric washing machines will be in full blast on that day, and probably production will approach the maximum of 300 machines a day. This will involve the hiring of some 1200, it is stated.

The story of the reopening of the plant resulted in a rush of those seeking employment to the place, but it was found that it had not as yet started operations. However, it was stated today that by going to the office of the factory on Monday morning, those who seek work there will be enabled to make their application. A sudden improvement in business conditions, with increasing activity by the Gillespie sales force, is assigned as the reason for the reopening, which will decisively relieve the tension of conditions in Lowell.

IN POLICE COURT

Joseph S. Bennett appeared in the police court this morning, charged with evading payment of his fare on the Boston & Maine railroad. He pleaded guilty to riding from Boston to this city on a tender. However, when he told of vainly seeking employment to support his family, and of losing $275, his case was filed on consent of the special officer for the railroad, who appeared for the prosecution. He made restitution to the extent of his fare. Josephine Fournier of Tyngsboro, paid $5 for drunkenness. James Flannery, on the same offence, drew a suspended state farm sentence. He has been in twice before, recently. William F. Coleman got three months in the house of correction, suspended for six months, also on a charge of too free imbibing. A nineteen-year-old girl, a clerk from Portland, Me., was charged with being a stubborn child and was placed on probation to February 4, 1922. The case of Everett Ellis, complained of by a girl, was put over to July 27. Three drunks were released.

MACMILLAN DETAINED

"POCO" TRIED TO GET OUT OF JAIL

Says He Paid $1000 to Corcoran to Secure His Release From Prison

Claims He Was Told of "Friend" Close To Tufts Who Could Get Favors if He Was Paid Cash—Urged To Do Business With "Office Across Street"

BOSTON, July 20.—Captain Herbert Gordon of the Cambridge police, on duty in the office of District Attorney Nathan A. Tufts of Middlesex county told Louis "Poco" Bennett that if he gave Charles and Frank Corcoran a certain sum of money he would be out of the Cambridge jail in a short time. Bennett testified before the full bench of the supreme court today.

Bennett's testimony was introduced by Attorney General Allen to support one of the multiple charges on which he bases proceedings to have District Attorney Tufts removed from office. The Corcorans have been accused of conspiracy and larceny of $1000 from Bennett in November, 1920, and their case is cited by the attorney general as bearing out his charge that Mr. Tufts neglected to introduce proper evidence in the prosecution of certain cases, although he had or could have easily obtained such evidence.

Serving Sentence
Bennett was serving two and one-half years sentence as a result of the holdup and shooting of a paymaster at Everett, when he was approached by Frank Corcoran and Charles Corcoran and Captain Gordon. He testified. The attorney general informed the court that one of the Corcorans was an employee of Sheriff John R. Fairbairn of Middlesex county and the other of the county commissioners.

Bennett said that he told the Corcorans that if they would bring about

Lowell Rotary Club Plays Host to 500 Children in Big Outing at Martin Luther Club Grounds

Automobile Parade Headed By Band Initial Feature of the Day's Program—Sixty Machines Filled With Happy Children—Refreshments of All Kinds at Grounds

"Join the Kiddies" was the slogan of the first annual outing given today by the Lowell Rotary club to the children of the local homes and orphanages and from the time the happy youngsters stepped into waiting automobiles and trucks at their door this morning until they began the homeward trip from the Martin Luther grounds late this afternoon that slogan predominated the spirit of the occasion. The Rotarians and their wives, indeed all who had anything to do with the outing joined the kiddies in spirit and fact and once more became youngsters for the day. It was the children's day and their happiness and wishes were all that mattered.

Every detail of the affair, carefully plotted out by an energetic committee several weeks ago, was carried out minus a hitch. Even the weather man entered into the spirit of the occasion. Late last night he cleared the muggy atmosphere with a cooling shower and when the youngsters woke up this morning they found the air clear and cool, the sun shining brightly and just enough breeze to stir trees and bushes into lazy action. It was an ideal day in every respect.

Man Charged by His Wife With Non-Support Confesses Bigamy

The court room during the morning's police court session, was thrown into excitement when W. Curtis Chamberlain, charged with non-support of his wife Elizabeth, took the stand and suddenly declared that the woman, with whom he has been living for years, is not his wife at all. "When she married me," he said, "I had a wife still living, although she died eleven months afterwards. I did not know of this, but thought my wife was dead, as the result of seeing a report to this effect in the newspapers. But when this woman married me,

FAIR PRICE FOR ICE CREAM SODA

NEW YORK, July 20.—The cost of production of ice cream soda is 7½ cents a glass, a prominent pharmacist stated today in announcing that it could make a reasonable profit by charging the customer 10 cents. The cost is divided as follows: Syrup 1 cent; milk 1 cent; ice cream two cents; labor, breakage, waste, etc., 3½ cents. Most prices in New York are 15 cents and up, plus tax.

DE VALERA MAY GO TO BELFAST

Possibility of Meeting With Craig in Ulster Foreshadowed in London Papers

Smuts said to be Responsible for Optimistic Views That Have Survived

LONDON, July 20.—The probability of a meeting in Belfast between Eamonn de Valera and Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, is foreshadowed in some political quarters and in several newspapers this morning.

General J. C. Smuts, premier of South Africa, who re-entered the negotiations yesterday, doubtless is largely responsible for this and similar optimistic speculation which has survived under great difficulties since Monday when the Ulster premier, departed suddenly for Belfast after making a forceful statement on the subject of self-determination as it applied to Ulster. Mr. de Valera now is reported willing to go to Belfast and meet Sir James after he has discussed with his Dublin followers certain proposals which it is understood, Premier Lloyd George will submit to him Thursday.

Cabinet Consideration
The British cabinet today will give special consideration to the Irish question, and it is believed that the aforementioned proposals are likely to receive the approval of the entire ministry.

Centralville Residents Appear at City Hall on Lakeview Avenue Paving Matter

Say Street is in Deplorable Condition and Dangerous to Public Safety

More than 150 residents of Centralville assembled in the aldermanic chamber in city hall, last evening, to urge the municipal council to heed the petition of John H. Deauley and 500 other residents of that section that Lakeview avenue be repaved from Bridge street to the Dracut line. Nearly a dozen speakers pointed out the deplorable condition that thoroughfare is now in and said that because of its neglect, automobiles and other vehicular traffic were ruining adjacent and parallel streets never meant to stand heavy traffic.

They pointed out also that the present condition of the street, which is a thoroughfare from Lowell to the

Judge Enright Says Dealer Seils Jamaica Ginger at His Peril

Sales of Jamaica ginger by Lowell storekeepers are going to stop, whatever the circumstances under which the transactions occur. This was clearly indicated when George LaBranchie, who conducts a grocery on Church street, was ordered by Judge Enright in the police court this morning to pay a fine of $100 for selling a bottle of Jamaica ginger to a police representative last evening. There was no testimony presented to the effect that the merchant understood that the preparation was being purchased for purposes other than medicinal. But his honor, acting under the recently promulgated decision of the Massachusetts supreme court based his finding upon the ruling of that body, to the effect that "general use" has constituted Jamaica ginger a beverage, and that the storekeeper who

BANKERS DEBATE ON PROF. FISHER'S PLAN

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 20.—Onahe and New York members of the American Institute of Banking, at the annual convention here today debated the subject, "Resolved, that the plan of Professor Irving Fisher for stabilizing the dollar should be adopted by the federal government." The New York team held the affirmative. Presidents of more than eighty chapters of the institute held their annual conference today.

ATTEMPT TO ASSASSINATE BUFFALO MAN

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 20.—In an attempt to assassinate Charles K. Blatchy, state commissioner of claims, shortly before noon today, Leon J. Reynolds, a laborer, whose claims for compensation has been denied, shot and probably wounded one man, and endangered the lives of several persons.

The wounded man was Anthony Andario, a spectator in the courtroom. He is in the emergency hospital with a bullet in his head.

FOUND DEAD WITH GAS POURING FROM JET

LEWISTON, Me., July 20.—Mrs. C. F. Packard of this city was found dead this morning in her home, gas pouring from an open jet. Death was pronounced due to suicide.

Mrs. Packard, who had been very prominent in social and club circles, was suffering from despondency due to ill-health.

NOT TO HOLD PARLEYS IN LONDON

LONDON, July 20.—(By the Associated Press)—The suggestion that a meeting preliminary to the Washington disarmament conference be held in London to enable the British dominions to express their views on Far Eastern questions is likely to be abandoned. It was learned in a well-informed quarter here today.

"Any and all conferences with these two subjects will be held in America" was the assurance given in this quarter.

REDUCTION OF RATES

OTTAWA, July 20.—A reduction in livestock rates on all Canadian railways is believed to be assured as a result of a meeting here late yesterday before the board of railway commissioners of representatives of the railways and the livestock industry. A basic 25 per cent decrease is probable.

N. C. AND BOSTON EXCHANGES

NEW YORK, July 20.—Exchanges, $540,690,000; balances, $62,700,000.

BOSTON, July 20.—Clearings, $49,256,001.

WOMEN CANNOT HOLD OFFICE IN THIS STATE, ACCORDING TO ALLEN

BOSTON, July 20.—Women are still without the right to hold constitutional office in Massachusetts. This was the ruling today of Attorney General Allen. He held that the 19th amendment to the federal constitution serves only to give the women the right to vote in this commonwealth, and does not alter the state constitutional requirement that men only are eligible for constitutional offices. This latest ruling by the attorney general developed out of the fact that there are several legislative seats to be filled next fall and women were said to be contemplating making campaigns in some places.

COLUMNS OF FIRE SHOOT HIGH IN AIR AS OIL FIELDS BURN

MEXICO CITY, July 20.—(By the Associated Press)—The Amatlan Oil fields are on fire, with drilling towers falling life chaff and the workmen fleeing, according to reports received here, describing "the greatest catastrophe in the history of the oil fields." The cause of the fire is not known. The financial loss cannot be estimated, say the advices which add that the conflagration dwarfs into insignificance the Pardo del Llano disaster. Columns of fire, hundreds of feet high, are covering the entire field, it is declared, and efforts to suppress the blaze are said to be considered hopeless.

TWO INJURED IN ACCIDENT

Reading Men Badly Hurt In Auto and Cycle Crash Here Today

Two men were injured, one seriously and an automobile and motorcycle were slightly damaged when the two machines came together in East Merrimack street this morning. The injured are Emmett Yungman of 113 Howard street, Reading, who is suffering from fractured ribs and other internal injuries, and Louis N. Smith of Haverhill street, North Reading, whose foot was badly crushed. Yungman's condition is considered serious. The accident occurred shortly after 8 o'clock at the entrance to the auditorium. It seems that Homer Green, whose home is in Greensboro, Md., but who lives temporarily at 27 Summer street, Maynard, was driving his Ford automobile down East Merrimack st. When a point was reached in front of the auditorium he swung to the left to park his car on the auditorium land, and just then an Indian motorcycle operated by Smith with Yungman in the sidecar, came along headed towards Merrimack square and before both drivers realized it, the two machines came together, the motorcycle striking the right front mudguard of the auto. Smith and Yungman were rushed to the hospital, where X-ray pictures of their injuries were taken. Green escaped without injuries.

Impeachment Defied By Judge Landis

CHICAGO, July 20.—Stating that what he said might be reason for impeachment Federal Judge K. M. Landis, in an address before wounded soldiers at Fort Sheridan, yesterday, denounced the foes of the soldiers' bonus bill as asserted that if he were president he would "fire the whole outfit" at Washington who were "getting in one another's way trying to pass on the veterans' compensation proposition." "As one man who stayed at home in peace and security while you fellows were fighting for our lives," said the judge, "I am against stalling off this bonus proposition."

Object To Change In Railroad Rates

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Three days of oral argument before the interstate commerce commission on a case involving readjustment of freight rates south of the Ohio river, including the Mississippi valley, was scheduled to begin today, with representatives of all the railroads of that section and of more than 1000 protestants in all parts of the country to be heard. New England manufacturers say that a change in present rates would disturb adjustment of their rates to the middle west, which in many instances are based upon rates to the Mississippi valley.

WONDERFUL HOPE CHEST

A very beautiful hope chest surrounded by countless articles of wearing apparel and other necessities, is on display in one of the Merrimack street windows of the Gagnon company. This hope chest and contents is worth well over $500. It is but one of the many individual prizes offered in conjunction with the annual bazaar party to be held at an early date by the Sacred Heart parish.

FIRE CHIEF BURNED

Chief Edward P. Saunders of the local fire department, and Chief James Smith of the Nashua department, left this city together this forenoon, to attend the funeral of Chief Joseph L. Swan of the Everett department, which took place this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Chief Swan was drowned last Friday, while on a fishing trip in Maine.

BIKE HIT AUTO

Peter M. Belanger of Spruce street, Dracut, whose auto collided with a bicycle operated by Louis Levasseur of 12 Branch street, in Merrimack street, a couple of days ago, claims that his machine did not strike Levasseur, but instead the bicycle ran into the rear end of the machine. There was no one injured in the accident, but the bicycle was damaged.

Excitement in Court

she did know that I had a wife living, and married me just the same." Under questioning, Chamberlain said his alleged wife "knew about the facts as much as he did." Judge Enright, telling the defendant he "ought to be in state's prison," sentenced him to four months in the house of correction. Chamberlain's strange announcement came as a complete surprise even to his own counsel, who declared that he did not care to go on with the hearing. Mrs. Chamberlain had taken the stand and testified that since June 12, her husband gave her no support whatever and had made a declaration to the effect that he had no intention of caring for her financially any longer. Recently, she said, and she understood that he is now residing in a barn. He called at their formerly shared domicile one Sunday morning since his departure, she said, and they had some conversation in course of which she said he couldn't come back "if he didn't behave himself." He has been earning $15 a week, she declared. They were married some six years ago, said the woman, who has a grown son by a former marriage. She was asked if this son has worked since returning from war, and she replied that more than half the time he has. She denied that during the remainder of the time the son has been supported by his stepfather. He has contributed $5 a week from his savings, she said. The defendant then ascended the witness stand and made his surprising announcement. He drew his jail sentence and then Judge Enright asked the wife if she was in fear of her husband. When she replied in the affirmative, Chamberlain was placed under $300 bonds also, to keep the peace. The wife denied having any knowledge as to Chamberlain being married already when she went through a marriage ceremony with him.

ends it is guilty of illegal sale of liquor. It was predicted in The Sun, when Judge Enright first called the attention of the public here to the supreme court's decision, that the circumstances marked an era in local prohibition enforcement, and meant nothing less than an absolute shut-down of all Jamaica ginger sales made without a physician's prescription. Judge Enright stated from the bench this morning that "since the supreme court's findings that the stuff is a beverage, a dealer sells it at his peril." Thirty bottles of Jamaica ginger, found by local liquor squad officers in Labranche's establishment after the sale had been made, were confiscated, and are now held at police headquarters. Prior to the calling of Labranche's case, Abraham Saharda, a merchant of Fayette street, was charged also with illegal sale, and the evidence produced by Officer Conroy for the liquor and vice squadrons, were a bottle of ginger and a bottle of tonic. Judge Enright at this point indicated the attitude of the court, and forewarned Labranche's fate, when he stated that it was necessary for the officers to get a sale of ginger and tonic combined under the position taken by the highest judicial body in the commonwealth. It is explicitly mentioned by the su-

COUNTING VARIOUS CHARGES ON A TON OF COAL

Passing the Buck a Favorite Game—Transportation Costs by Rail and Boat—Operators Say High Wages Keep Up Price

In the subjoined article Mr. E. Robert Stevenson, the authorized investigator of the coal question for the N. E. Newspaper, Alliance, The Lowell Sun, computes the price of a ton of coal from the mines in Pennsylvania to Worcester, the center of New England.

Special to The Sun.
BY E. ROBERT STEVENSON

It ought to be a simple problem in arithmetic for any buyer of coal to figure out for himself the why and wherefore of the price of the ton of coal that he has emptied into his cellar. It ought to be possible for him easily to ascertain the price charged by the mine operator for that ton of coal on board the railroad car at the mine, with the cost to the operator for putting it aboard that car. He could then ascertain without difficulty what it cost to move that coal from the mine to the city in which he lived. The question of transportation costs offers little worry. The government controls this charge absolutely and the citizen may trust the government to watch out for his interests. If wholesalers are to stand between local coal dealers and the operators in getting the coal to the consumer, it ought to be clear to the buyer how much the wholesaler is to make for any part he may have in handling the coal and why it may be necessary for him to function as a wholesaler. The law of competition getting in its work between local dealers serving a domestic trade, it might then be assumed that the intimate knowledge that consumers had of these dealers with their comparatively simple costs for labor, transportation on city streets, office expenses etc. would keep their profits fair, as customers checked up charges and closely estimated costs of local handling.

All this ought to be a simple problem, but it isn't.

The first difficulty is that the operators object to any probing of cost figures by the government or other curious folks. They are willing to give out cost figures that they themselves have made if folks will be willing to accept them. The next difficulty is that the so-called "independent" operators sell at prices they can get above the regular prices listed by the "railroad" coal companies. This makes it possible for a dealer to explain high prices at any time by the expedient of saying he was obliged to buy high priced "independent" coal. He may also point to wholesalers or jobbers as "robbers" from whom he was forced to buy at outrageous prices.

In coal prices the game of "passing the buck" is played with ramifications such as are found in no other game in which the question of whose to blame for the prices is concerned. Everybody who has any part in the handling of the coal points to somebody else as responsible for the price. The grand conclusion of the coal interests reached a wonderful buck-passing climax at the top of altitude record in prices last winter when it was pointed out that the consumer was to blame for the high prices because he insisted on buying coal to warm his home.

The Steady Prices

Consideration of prices charged for anthracite coal at the mines should be marked first with fairness of mind toward the operators. Bituminous coal has dropped around a wild range of prices for years because of an uneven demand dependent upon industrial conditions affecting the orders of manufacturing plants that have constituted its chief buyers. Anthracite, on the other hand, up to and through the period of the war and until the controlling fuel administration loosened its hand upon it, had shown a marked steadiness of prices in contrast with the fluctuations of bituminous. The steady demand of a domestic trade was chiefly responsible for this.

of Indianapolis, the president, showed an increase in the organization of the kind and time in 11 years. Bishop Michael J. Gallagher, after the mass yesterday, warned the delegates against over-optimism as to the outcome of the London conference.

HIBERNIAN DELEGATES "STICKING TOGETHER"

DETROIT, July 20.—The 55 Massachusetts delegates attending the Ancient Order of Hibernians convention, is "sticking together and seeing things." After the opening meeting yesterday the Massachusetts delegates, in charge of Clarence C. Colpitts, chartered eight-seating buses and made a five-hour trip of the boulevards, Belle Isle Park and Grand Pointe and inspected two of the largest automobile plants in the world.

The women delegates from New England, 40 strong, headed by Mrs. Mary Martin Silk of Spencer, is working hard for the election of Mrs. Susan McNamee of Charlestown as national vice-president of the Women's auxiliary. A hot contest is promised, with present indications favoring the Massachusetts candidate.

The Massachusetts and other New England delegates are unanimous for the re-election of Richard Dwyer of Boston, as national vice president. Little opposition has as yet developed and his re-election is practically assured.

The first business session came today and the convention is to continue through the week.

The report of Judge James E. Deery

Police Asked To Help Find Twins

NEW YORK, July 20.—Search was begun today by the police for Charles and Latrobe Learycraft, 26-year-old twins and cousins of the late Theodore Roosevelt, at the request of their brother, Reginald Roosevelt Learycraft. The twins have been missing from her home since Monday morning. Reginald

MISS URBANEK HAS DONE GOOD WORK HERE

Miss Mary Urbanek, secretary of the North American Civic League for Immigrants, has just completed a most successful season's work among the Polish-speaking residents of Lowell and through her efforts a large number of men and women of that nationality have become better acquainted with American ideals and American standards. One of the chief purposes of the organization which she represents is to offset any propaganda which radicals may attempt to spread among the foreign-born residents of this country and inasmuch as the radicals disseminate their propaganda usually in the language of the people whom they wish to win over to their cause, the agency which is attempting to offset this propaganda must also make their appeal in the native language.

Miss Urbanek has done this most successfully. She started her work last September by delivering a lecture to a large audience of Polish residents. Then came the work of organizing classes. Three classes in English for men, two classes in sewing for women and one cooking class were opened and continued until a few weeks ago. A part of the enrollment in these classes resulted from Miss Urbanek's lecture and the rest was the result of personal canvassing.

Classes were conducted at night in the Varman, Green and Cabot street schools. In addition to this work Miss Urbanek has also helped Polish-speaking people individually, guarding and protecting them against exploitation and conveying to them the ideals of true Americanism. She has also assisted them in securing medical, legal and other advice. In fact, her organization offers service to those people in any form they desire it.

She recently helped to organize naturalization classes among Polish residents and with the co-operation of Supt. Hugh J. Molloy of the school department and the V. M. C. A. 15 men were enabled to obtain their first papers.

Last Sunday the closing exercises of her classes were held at a picnic conducted at the grounds of the Polish Falcons in Dracut. Those present were addressed by Frank Wiech, also a worker for the North American Civic League, who talked on women's rights and citizenship in general. He suggested that an organization to be known as the Polish-American Women's club be formed here next fall and the idea met with general approval.

Miss Urbanek did only part-time work in Lowell since September, spending part of her time in similar work in Waltham. Her headquarters have been at the rooms of the chamber of commerce. She has also become known to local police officials and lawyers by acting as interpreter for Polish people in police court cases here.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

(By Theatres' Own Press Agents)

MERRIMACK SQ. THEATRE

Final performances of "The Land of Hope," starring capable Allee Brady, will be given at the Merrimack Square theatre this evening. Tomorrow afternoon there will be a complete change of program.

The features for the second half of the week will be "The Road of Ambition," starring Conway Tearle, and "The Call From the Wild," an unusual outdoor production.

Power in the financial world is the first accomplished overnight by Conway Tearle as Bill Mathews in "The Road of Ambition."

The story, which is by Elaine Sterne, is that of a young man, who, through an invention for the betterment of steel output, is lifted from a sordid surroundings to a world wherein he becomes a great power.

He has phenomenal success with every venture he embarks upon, but finds himself handicapped by lack of the fitness and polish of the people he associates with. He is educated and introduced into society by a young woman to one of the best families, who is in need of money. In spite of having riches and everything he has dreamed of all his life, Bill finds himself unhappy because of his inability to win the love of the girl he adores. However, she marries him to save her father from financial ruin, telling him frankly that she does not love him. But in the end she recognizes his true worth, and grows to return his affection.

"The Call From the Wild" is a story of human interest, heart throbs and thrills—a tale of the great outdoors that carries an appeal to every layer of nature, to every soul that revels in the drama of the heart.

In the end, it shows that love, finds the way, but it is not the love one man may have for a woman nor the admiration of the heroines for the prince who comes riding by. It is the intensely told tale of the lives of common folk, their woes and heartaches, their joys and sorrows. In the pursuit of life in the rude surroundings of the sturdy men who brave the dangers and hardships incident upon homeliving in the remote heights, far removed from the haunts of civilization.

A comedy, "Just in Time," the International News will round out the bill.

THE STRAND

Elaine Hammerstein was never seen to better advantage than in her new feature, "The Miracle of Manhattan," which is to be shown for the last time today at The Strand. The other picture of interest is "Breezy," both are truly exceptional picture offerings. The remainder of the bill includes a good comedy and an interesting and comfortable and there are 1000 seats at 10 cents each at all performances.

For the last three days of the week George Walsh in "Desperate Youth" and Gladys Walton in "Desperate Youth" are the features. They will be shown for the first time at tomorrow's matinee. "Desperate Youth" has that was ever shown on the film screen through an open bridge, leaping from the surface, as the engine sinks when the star is caught in a mine that is being filled with water. He but he gets out. How he does it, Charming Little Gladys Walton, who made a striking impression in all of her former offerings, will again tug at the heartstrings in the picture.

"Desperate Youth," an adaptation of F. Hopkinson Smith's novel, "A Kentucky Cinderella." Don't miss these two photoplays.

Tufts Case

writer to give the case special attention when it came up in superior court, as the gambling house was a nuisance to the community and a corrupter of the morals of the youth.

Chase declared that the Mantha gambling house had been recognized under a system which seemed to warrant boasts that it insured absolute safety, "and one man had won $55." To trusted customers "safety buttons" were given. The long delay over this case, wrote Chase, has encouraged those backing Mantha to believe that the Watch and Ward society can never interfere again.

Great Difficulty
Chase referred to the great difficulty he had experienced in obtaining his search warrant for the raid of the preceding August. The difficulty of getting a deputy sheriff to serve and declare that "the society appears to have but one friend in town—Judge Weeks." However, he had been charged by the judge to make known the facts to the upper court, and the society, if the unusual course of a trial should be granted, was ready to present the evidence again.

Went to Tufts' Office
On May 4, Chase went to Tufts' office, and was informed that one of the assistants was handling the case. Conferring with this official—whether it was Wagner, the witness was uncertain, he learned that only a $100 fine, without imprisonment, was to be recommended. The witness protested without avail. Arriving late in the superior courtroom, he found Judge McLaughlin was listening to a statement.

Called to Bench
He was called to the bench and made a statement as to the facts. "The assistant district attorney made his recommendation, but Judge McLaughlin refused to accept it, saying that such corrupting agencies in a community could not be handled with such an inadequate sentence as a fine." Mr. Chase charged that the papers which had come up from the lower court stated incorrectly that the plea there had been not guilty. The case was continued for trial, but the next the witness heard was that the $100 fine had been imposed.

On Other Grounds
The witness then asked whether it would not be possible for the libel to be entered on other grounds, less humiliating than adultery, and added that he supposed Mrs. Stearns would be unwilling to wait for a divorce on the ground of desertion. Coakley replied in the affirmative, and said that, as for cruel and abusive treatment, there had been no physical treatment of that kind, and if it were relied on there would have to be some introduction of unnatural acts on the part of Capt. Stearns, which would be revolting.

The witness suggested the use of intoxicating liquors, but Coakley responded that while such evidence introduced into society by a young woman to one of the best families, who is in need of money. In spite of having riches and everything he has dreamed of all his life, Bill finds himself unhappy because of his inability to win the love of the girl he adores. ## MRS. EUNICE FOSS IS OUT WITH FACTS

Declares Tanlac Should Be In Every Home—Troubles of Three Years' Standing Overcome

Another wonderful endorsement of Tanlac that will be read with interest by thousands of frail, suffering people in Boston and vicinity, was given by Mrs. Eunice Foss, a highly esteemed resident of 100 Centre st., Malden, Mass., a few days ago.

Mrs. Foss has resided in Malden for the past ten years and her many friends will be glad to learn that she is now enjoying splendid health again. In describing her case and failure to heretofore find relief, Mrs. Foss said: "For the past three years my whole system seemed out of order. My appetite was so poor I scarcely averaged one good meal a day and I would have such a stuffed-up, bloated feeling after eating that I could hardly get my breath. This indigestion troubled me so at night that I often had to get up and walk the floor. There was a burning sensation, like fire in the pit of my stomach. Many foods I could not eat at all and the ones I like best seemed to hurt me the worst. All upset so that even the door bell ringing, and other noises I have always been accustomed to hear would distract me. My sleep was never sound and many nights I heard the clock every time it struck, and then get up mornings so tired and weak I could hardly prepare the breakfast, often having to go back to bed. I had lost considerable weight and was all run-down."

In the advice of a friend from Lynn, she began taking Tanlac and now I prize it above every medicine. The very first bottle brought me up and I was able to eat. I am not troubled any more with gas, bloating, shortness of breath or any other signs of indigestion and my appetite is so keen I have gained nearly 20 pounds to satisfy me. I used to have headaches that almost set me wild, but Tanlac has done away with them, just like it has with my other troubles. My nerves are perfectly steady and I sleep from night to ten hours every night without even waking one time. Since taking Tanlac I have had strength to clean my eleven-room house, and I did the varnishing and everything—something could not have possibly done last year. I have gained a lot in weight and have not felt so well in years. I just can't praise Tanlac enough and if everybody knew his value, there would be no more bottles in every home in Massachusetts."

Tanlac is sold in Lowell by Green's drug store under the personal direction of special Tanlac representative; by the F. D. Wright Drug Co., 111 Essex st., Malden, Mass.; and by the leading druggists in every town.—Adv.

might be obtained, it would be likely to terminate Capt. Stearns' army career, and Mrs. Stearns did not want to do that. Therefore, the adultery charge had better be pressed, for the army authorities would be more likely to overlook that. Coakley said his client was difficult to handle, and would insist on the adultery charge.

Would Be Negligible
The witness inquired as to what the course of the district attorney would be, and Coakley responded that it would be negligible; that while he was obliged to certify the evidence to the district attorney, "it was not customary, for the district attorney, if the case did not seem to him to be of sufficient importance to indict, if the injured party did not insist, and in this case there would be no trouble."

In cross-examination the witness said that Coakley said he had been following a Waltham woman. The witness had heard the name "Jennie Fox" in connection with the case, but he never had any dealings with Tufts. Coakley's libel on the ground of adultery was never filed. The witness may have told Coakley that Capt. Stearns' fortune was about $75,000, but did not settle on a basis of one-third. On the contrary, the settlement cost about $38,000. The daughter lives part of the time with her mother and part with her father.

As a Partner
Frank W. Campbell of Melrose was called to testify as to the allegation that Tufts received emoluments, as a partner in the firm of Tufts, Harvey & Campbell, from taking part in the defense of persons charged with crime. Coakley said that the partnership began Jan. 1, 1920, each contributing about $200, and agreeing to divide the income in thirds.

The witness and Harvey acted for John A. Dondoro, an associate of Ponzi, indicted with Ponzi for conspiracy and larceny Aug. 17, 1920; also for Henry T. H. Neilson, 261 Sydney street, Cambridge, with several aliases, in a case similar to that of Dondoro. From Dondoro $200 was received and from Neilson $3500, all of which went into the partnership fund. The firm also had some other Ponzi investors as clients, including Mrs. Mary Joyce. The total amount of fees received was more than $100.

Tufts Appeared
Tufts appeared in the lower court and defended Boyd against the charge of operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. In cross-examination the witness explained that he had the Boyd case, but on account of being ill Tufts took it. Boyd being a neighbor of Tufts at Scituate, Boyd was found not guilty. Tufts has been in the Boston office only half a dozen times altogether, and his connection with the firm is only nominal.

In redirect, the witness agreed to bring the checkbook, but declared Tufts has drawn nothing. The divisions of profits have been monthly. Never knew of any money or checks being sent to Tufts. His salary as district attorney $4000, and by arrangement is kept in separate from the firm. Harvey did not resign as assistant district attorney until January last.

"Poor" Bennett
Louis ("Doc") Bennett went on the stand to testify in the Corcoran case. The Corcoran brothers, employees at the East Cambridge jail, were charged by Bennett with receiving from him a $1000 bill to aid in getting his release on probation. Later they were said to have given it back. Bennett was called before Tufts, and later before the grand jury, which returned no bill, but Mr. Gen. Allen made a report to the county commissioners and, following their investigation, and that of Sheriff Fairbanks, the Corcoran brothers were discharged. Bennett is serving a sentence for conspiracy in connection with the holdup and shooting of the paymaster of the Everett Electric Light company. His time is up Aug. 2.

The Hart Case
Boston and Cambridge police officers testified concerning the case of James Hart, a former Boston policeman, indicted for larceny of an automobile in November, 1918, but whom Tufts is alleged to have shielded and protected from prosecution through improver motives. Chief Inspector Patrick Hurley of the Cambridge police testified he told Tufts of the findings of the automobile in a barn in Saxtonville, for which Hart paid two months' rent in advance, and that Hart wanted to make an appointment, to confess to the district attorney. Five days later Hart was brought to Tufts,

but had changed his mind about the confession. Later Hart was indicted for receiving stolen automobiles, but Tufts did not go before the grand jury. The indictment was secret. The witness tried to get a capias for the arrest of Hart. Later he was brought in on another charge, but the witness never learned what happened after dropped from the Boston police force.

PEACEFUL PICKETING AT LOCAL THEATRES

The union employees of the local theatres who severed their connections with the amusement houses last Sunday evening, in accordance with a two weeks' notice given them by the managers, have started peaceful picketing at the entrances of the theatres where they were formerly employed.

Last evening, patrons of all the local movie houses which are still open were approached as they were about to enter the theatres and told that they were going into houses "unfair to union labor."

The unwillingness of their stage hands, musicians and operators to accept a wage reduction is given by the managers as their reason for giving their union employees notice to quit work. The managers contend that their business does not warrant the payment of the salaries which have been in force during the past year. The former employees, on the other hand, contend that no opportunity for a conference to discuss matters was given them.

CALIFORNIA TO LOWELL BY AUTO

After a 5000-mile motor trip, lasting 21 days, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fellings and party reached this city yesterday from Pasadena, California. The tourists were at no expense for hotel bills, as they "camped out" each night during their crossing of the continent. They made a run of 565 miles on the final day of their journey. They are now the guests of Reuben White, of Shedd street, where they will remain until Aug. 5, when they return to the west coast.

The old songs are rarely if ever duplicated. Today, they are as full of melody, as in years ago when our ancestors delighted in singing them. This is one reason for old timers' night at Lakeview tonight. When you and I were young, "Maggie," "Ben Bolt," "Annie Laurie," "Old Black Joe," "The Maid o' Dundee," "Sally in Our Alley"—are there any modern songs to match these? No, sir! They are among the numbers to be played by Minard Doyle's big orchestra tonight. Meanwhile don't forget the swimming races for cash prizes tomorrow afternoon. ### City Council Hears Petition north, in most dangerous and expensive to automobilists. They emphasized the fact that they came before the council not to dictate but merely to lay the facts before it and make suggestions. In conclusion, a rising vote in favor of the project was recorded and Mayor Thompson, after congratulating those present on their get-together spirit as manifested in the recently organized Centralville Improvement association, assured them that their petition would receive the serious consideration of the council. The hearing lasted 60 minutes.

Hearing in Detail
The mayor called to order at 7:10. Commissioner Murphy was absent. The mayor said that the purpose of the meeting was to hold a hearing on the petition of John H. Beaulieu et al., that Lakeview avenue be repaved from Bridge street to the Draught line. John J. McPadden, chairman of the committee on streets of the Centralville Improvement association, was the first speaker.

He said that the petition represented all the residents of Centralville. He spoke of the deplorable condition of Lakeview avenue and of the resultant heavy transit on adjacent streets. He said that the people of all Lowell would consider the paving of Lakeview avenue a service to them.

Henry H. Harris said that all the residents of Centralville, not merely those of West Centralville, wanted the improvement. He said that the people of Centralville had gotten together as they have never been together before. Mr. Harris said that just before the hearing he had driven over Lakeview avenue and found it in dreadful condition.

Thomas B. Delaney said he passed over the street four times a day. He didn't want the portals of the city treasury thrown open widely or haphazardly, but he did believe that a section of the city boasting 20,000 or 25,000 people should receive at least a little consideration. He described the deplorable condition of West Sixth street as a result of the divergence of traffic from Lakeview avenue.

the national joy smoke

Charles Cordeau said that he was in business on Lakeview avenue but that owing to its poor condition, he was unable to use it.

Everybody Is Suffering
John J. Mahoney said that the street was in such a wretched condition that everybody in West Centralville was suffering. He said that there was no use fixing other streets in Centralville until Lakeview avenue is repaired. He added that if some of the auto speeders were compelled to ride over the street a few times all the speed mania would be taken out of them.

Thomas F. Garvey, president of the Centralville Improvement association, spoke briefly in favor of the project. James J. Gallagher said that he owned property on the street. He hoped that the streets most in need of repair should be given first attention. If any other section needed repairs more than Centralville he was willing that it should receive first attention. He felt that if Centralville's claim were just, it should receive consideration. He said that if it could be used, not necessarily block paving.

Narcisse Gadhols said Lakeview avenue was the main thoroughfare between Lowell and the north, but that autos and other vehicular traffic have to make a wide detour before reaching the good part of the highway in Draught. He said that Alken avenue was one of the streets destroyed because of heavy traffic diverted from Lakeview avenue. He said that if it were properly repaired it would not need attention for 60 years.

He stated he had been paying taxes for 10 years but had received little return for them.

Damage to Machines
Harry Ellis said Centralville had no selfish motive in asking for the improvement. He said that he used Lakeview avenue six times a day and knew what its condition was. He declared that the damage to machines was great and he was in a position to know because he is in the automobile business.

He added that he knew of no thoroughfare in the city more dangerous than Lakeview avenue. He said there have been many near-accidents as a result of a groove made by the machines, which try to keep one wheel in the car track. He had no fault to find with Commissioner Murphy or his work as he knew he had his hands full.

John P. Burns said that his family had paid taxes in Centralville 30 years and that he wanted to be recorded in favor of the project.

Charles P. Stickney spoke at length on the petition and other street matters, finally registering his objection to the petition.

Mr. McPadden said that the petitioners wished simply a permanent paving, not necessarily smooth paving.

Henry J. Rogers was registered in favor. Several other residents were registered in favor individually, and then a rising vote, unanimously in favor of the project, was taken. The mayor said that the council wished to stimulate the get-together spirit in the various sections of the city. He said that the program of street repair outlined at the beginning of the year included a number of Centralville streets. However, if the residents of that section wished to have those streets sidetracked until Lakeview avenue is repaired, he believed that the council would favor it. He assured those present that their petition would be given most serious and sober consideration. Adjourned at 8:30.

Fairburn's Market Employees on Annual Outing Make Merry at Silver Lake

The employees of Fairburn's market, Inc., cast aside all business cares today and assembled at Thompson's grove for their annual outing, always a red letter event in the year's activities of the well known Merrimack square firm. Long anticipated by every employee of the store, the 1921 outing day dawned under clear skies and with ideal atmospheric conditions. For many weeks preparations for the affair had been under way and today every detail was carried out most successfully and smoothly.

At 1 o'clock the 50 employees of the store gathered in front of the establishment and posed for a Sun photographer. They then boarded two automobile trucks and were carried to the outing grounds at Silver Lake.

Although the grounds were not in the best of condition for athletics, the program was carried out as planned without a hitch and provided great enjoyment for those who participated as well as for those who looked on. A feature of the program was a baseball game between the Beneditos of the store, captained by Leo Rousseau, and the unmarried men headed by Daniel McGrath. Following the game there were races of all descriptions for both men and members of the fair sex and at the close of each event suitable prizes were awarded the winners.

At noon tables were set on the green and the hungry excursionists partook of an appetizing turkey dinner, which included all the fixings. In the afternoon games were enjoyed and more sporting events were held. The committee in charge of the arrangements consisted of James J. Stapleton, chairman, Miss Catherine O'Connell, treasurer, and Daniel McGrath.

LONDON, July 20.—It is announced as provisionally arranged that Premier Lloyd George will attend the Washington conference on limitation of armaments.

The premiers of the overseas dominions met and discussed the question of dominion representation at the conference. So far an agreement is concerned, the dominions are willing to decide what should be done, but Australia and New Zealand especially wish to have a voice in any decisions regarding the future of the Pacific. Canada is not so much concerned, as her policy, it is pointed out, is practically identical with that of the United States.

BOARD PUTS JEWELERS' NEED OF MORE TROOPS VOICED

PETITION ON FILE

The application of the Lowell Retail Jewelers' association, for a regulation of the hours of auctioneering here, and their restriction to the ordinary business hours of local stores, was placed on file last evening by the license commission at their weekly meeting. The action, it was explained by Clerk Flaherty of the body, does not necessarily mean that no action will be taken in the future, but indicates that the limitations requested by the retail jewelers here are not considered feasible. The petition, which was signed by the leading jewelers of the city, has been a subject of discussion in view of the unusual nature of the matter. Regulation such as was sought was without precedent here and it was feared that it might work unreasonable hardships upon legitimate auctioneering enterprises. It was felt that if jewelry auctioneers were restricted as to the hours during which they might ply their trade, the selling might be pressed so that sales would be interfered with to an unjust degree.

Aside from the action of the members in filing the petition, only routine business occupied the session. Licenses to sell on the Lord's day were granted to Victor L. Pickard and Angelina Pickard of Broadway, and Napoleon Desmarais of White street. The following were accorded peddling and hawking licenses: Nicholas Kavouas of Market street, George Swartz of Lincoln street, Anthony Phomare of Burns street, and John Stephen of Fulton street. Lodging house permits were given to Sam Alie, at Lawrence street, and Eva Gregoire, at Appleton street.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY ON INCREASE HERE

All recent police court records in assault and battery cases were fractured this morning, when seven defendants appeared to answer charges of this nature. The session was not adjourned until nearly 1 p. m., because of the lengthy testimony and cross questionings in some of the cases. No very serious penalties were suffered by any of the assaulters and batterers, who were found in some instances to have been considerably aggravated to violence.

Salvator Zajas paid a fine of $20 for striking a neighbor. It appeared that Zajas and the complainant, a woman, had indulged in unfriendly conversation, and that action succeeded violence. The usual story of references to each other's moral qualities, and the moral qualities of each other's families, was narrated. The venom of tongues incited deeds, and thus the $20 fine. Stanislaw Ivazhewicz, found guilty of kicking a boy and fined $10, also had a aggravation, the court found, admonishing the young complainant, and some of his playmates to keep off the land which the defendant has been seeking to guard from trespass.

The lads were digging worms on this tract, it was testified, when the defendant gave chase, and the kicking ensued. Counsel for the defendant drew a harrowing picture of the man tormented by urchins who waged his warfully graced land and violated its charms by delving for worms. But the defendant's counsel told of complications with reference to the right of the kicked boy to be on that land. Threats to have the lad in court on a trespassing warrant, if he goes on the land again, were met by an invitation to have the warrant sworn out at once. With these amenities, the case concluded. Mary Gravel was another to assault a woman after a worthy battle. Opprobrious language was bandied, it was testified, and then Mary's wrath moved her to actual hostilities. She was warned that she must not take the law into her own hands, regardless of what terms were applied to her. In view of the fact that she has four children cared for by the city, her case was filed after she was held in session throughout the session.

DEDHAM, July 20.—Motions for a new trial for Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, convicted last week of the murder of a paymaster and his guard in a robbery at South Braintree on April 15, 1920, were filed in the Norfolk county superior court today.

A new trial was asked on the ground that the verdict was against the law and the weight of evidence.

Allied Commissioners in Upper Silesia Send Demand for Larger Army

British Government Insists There is no Necessity for More Soldiers

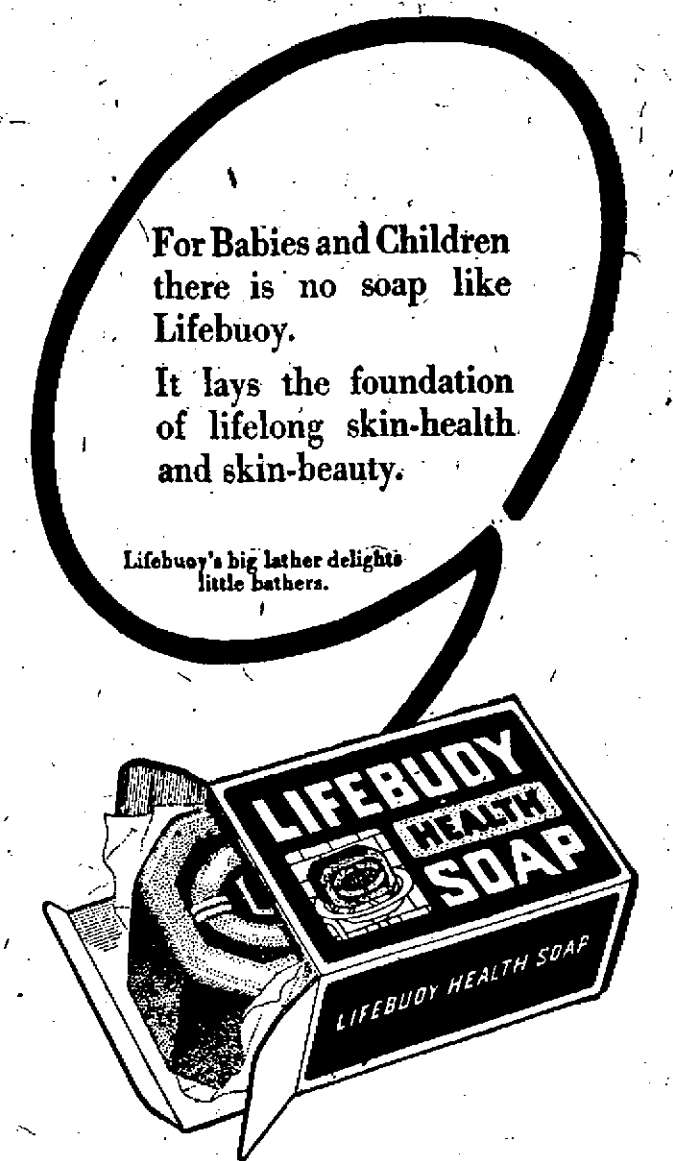

PARIS, July 20. (By the Associated Press.)—The British, Italian and French commissioners in Upper Silesia have sent in a joint report demanding that reinforcements be sent to the allied troops of occupation. It was announced here this afternoon.

This recommendation came almost simultaneously with the receipt of a note by the French foreign office from the British government in which Great Britain insisted that there was no necessity for sending more troops into Upper Silesia. The note was in reply to the recent communication in which the French government notified Great Britain that reinforcements for the allied troops of occupation were needed urgently in order to make sure that the troops were not disturbed and to insure respect for the decisions of the allies under the treaty of Versailles.

The British note reiterated the demand of that government for the early convening of the allied supreme council. In view of the insistence of Premier Lloyd George, it is probable that Premier Briand will agree to a meeting of the council in the neighborhood of July 27, probably at Boulogne. Because of the report of the commissioners in Upper Silesia respecting the need for more troops there, however, it is regarded as improbable that Briand will yield on that question. If Great Britain, refused to join, France probably will send troops independently.

Premier Briand has not yet replied to the British note and it is likely will make known his final decision regarding the convening of the supreme council this afternoon. The council, besides dealing with the Silesian question, probably will be occupied principally with the question of maintaining the penalties against Germany, continued occupation of Dusseldorf, Tuisburg and Ruhrort and a few details concerning execution of the Versailles treaty.

Citric acid and lemon oil are two of the most important by-products of the lemon industry.

McMahon, president of the United Textile Workers of America. Three representatives of the international organization will attend the conference, Mr. McMahon said, in addition to himself. He explained that the meeting is to be in the nature of a conference on the general situation.

WHEN DID YOU
FIRST MISS YOUR WRIST WATCH?

THIS MORNING I WISH
YOU WOULD GO RIGHT DOWN AND ASK THE CLERK IF ANY ONE TURNED IT IN!

DID ANY ONE
TURN IN A
THAT WAS FOUND?

I DON'T KNOW! YOU
BETTER GO BACK AND ASK THE CLERK!
HE'S OUT IN THE BARN!

HELLO THERE!
SAY, CAN I
SEE YOU A MINUTE?

SURE, COME

HOW ABOUT THIS DOG? WILL HE BITE?

COME RIGHT IN!
I DON'T KNOW, JUST GOT HIM TODAY AND WANT TO FIND OUT!
